NINTH CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS

You are invited to attend the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals Session and Reception on Jan. 8th.

We are delighted to announce that a panel of judges from the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals will hear oral arguments at the law school on Thursday, January 8th, 2004. This event offers students an unparalleled opportunity to see the inner workings of the nation's largest federal appellate court. Top litigators from across the country will argue the merits of a wide range of cases. After oral arguments, the judges will hold a Question and Answer Session with students followed by a reception.

A tentative schedule* is:

8:45-9:00 Opening Remarks by Dean Knight Rm 133
9:00-11:20 Oral arguments for 5 cases Rm 133
11:00-12:30 Private Lunch for the Judges
12:30-1:30 Question and Answer Session Rm 133
1:30-3:00 Reception with hors d'oeuvres Rm 447

*The schedule is subject to modification at the Judges' discretion.

Ninth Circuit rules forbid the release of the names of the judges or cases until December 29th. On Monday, January 5th a short synopsis of the cases will be available in Career Services, Room 346.

This event is sponsored by Career Services and the Faculty Clerkship Committee. Many people have contributed to initiating and organizing the Panel's visit. I would especially like to thank Professor Steve Calandrillo, Sarah Farley Kalsounis (2003 Grad, Ninth Circuit Clerk), and Megan Walseth (2003 Grad, Ninth Circuit Clerk).

Further details are forthcoming. If you have questions regarding the event, please contact Arleen Nand in Career Services at pservice@u.washington.edu.

AUTUMN QUARTER GRADES

Faculty will be submitting their grade reports to Academic Services during the first two weeks of the quarter. As received, those reports will be processed (this involves converting the scores received by exam number to a record that identifies the grades to students), and the grades posted as follows:

1L Scores: 1Ls will receive an “N” on their transcripts (indicating satisfactory progress in a continuing quarter course), and will pick up their exam scores from Academic Services after they are processed. We will send messages to Lawdawgs when scores are ready to be picked up.

Grades for Other Students: Grades for classes that are completed at the end of the Autumn Quarter 2003 will be processed as received and sent to Schmitz Hall for posting to transcripts. Continuing quarter courses will have an “N” noted on the transcript record.

Distribution Book: For any graded class with an enrollment of over 15 students, a distribution of grades report is prepared. These reports are kept in a binder that can be seen at Academic Services, room 361.
NEW FACULTY MEMBERS
We are delighted to announce two new additions to our faculty for the 2004-2005 academic year:

Kristin Stilt has accepted our offer to join our faculty as an assistant professor beginning in August. She is a specialist in Islamic Law. She earned her J.D. from the University of Texas, and her Ph.D. from Harvard.

Joel Ngugi has accepted our offer to join the faculty as a tenure track assistant professor beginning this summer. Joel earned both a Masters of Laws (LL.M.) and a doctorate of juridical sciences (S.J.D.) at Harvard Law School. He received his LL.B. from the University of Nairobi. Joel is currently associated with the Boston law firm of Foley Hoag and specializes in international litigation and transactional work.

The additions to our community of Kristin Stilt and Joel Ngugi are a wonderful tribute to our institution's good fortune. Thank you to everyone who has participated in the recruitment of these two outstanding young faculty members.

New externship opportunities are now available on our Career Services website! There are 21 federal judicial externship opportunities for 1L's, 2L's, & 3L'S (12 with Federal Court of Appeals Judges). Some of these judges have expressed specific interest in University of Washington Law School students. If you would like specific information regarding these judges, please see Arleen Nand in Career Services (pservice@u.washington.edu).

There are numerous other externships also available. Please visit the Career Services website at www.law.washington.edu/Career/ and click under “Available Externships” to view more opportunities. Some examples follow.

United States Department of Justice, Executive Office for Immigration Review
Bradenton, Miami, Orlando, and San Juan, Puerto Rico
Classes: 1L, 2L

The United States Department of Justice, Executive Office for Immigration Review, Immigration Court seeks first and second year law students to work as volunteer judicial law interns during the summer of 2004. The duties for the volunteer law interns will include researching relevant law and drafting decisions for Immigration Judges. Selection as a volunteer law intern and successful completion of an internship is an important factor in deciding whether to extend individuals an interview for the Attorney General’s Honor Program.

The Immigration Court consists of Immigration Judges who are located at various courts throughout the United States. The immigration Judges preside at formal administrative hearings. In addition to determining whether individuals are removable from the United States, the Immigration Judges have jurisdiction to consider applications for various forms of relief, including asylum, adjustment of status, cancellation of removal, and withholding and deferral of removal under the United Nations Convention Against Torture.

Applicants must be United States citizens. Those selected will be required to submit to a security background check that takes six to eight weeks to complete.

Application Deadline: Must be postmarked by January 30, 2004. However, offers are extended on a rolling basis. Therefore, it is suggested that all packets be submitted early.

Application Materials: Submit short cover letter, resume, 5-10 page writing sample, and law school transcript to:

United States Department of Justice
Immigration Court
155 S. Miami Avenue, 8th Floor
Miami, FL 33130
Attn: Tamesha Keel, Attorney Advisor

Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund Legal Internship Program
Classes: 1L

The Asian American Legal Defense and Education fund (AALDEF), a 30-year old New York-based civil rights organization, is collaborating with Pfizer Inc. in seeking qualified first-year students interested in obtaining a unique experience in a corporate legal environment. Student interns will work in a team environment on a wide range of summer projects in such areas as employment, patents, trademarks, commercial transactions, regulatory, and international law. The summer internship will not lead to a permanent position at the completion of the program or immediately after graduation. However, Pfizer provides student interns with mentors who will provide professional guidance and career counseling.

Applicants should be enrolled as first-year students in an accredited law school and have a minimum college GPA of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale. The paid internship program runs for eight to ten weeks, with a summer stipend ranging from $8,800 to $12,000.

DEADLINE EXTENDED: Applications should be submitted no later than January 23, 2004.

Application Materials: Before submitting applications, you should review the brochure in the Career Services
Center as there are guidelines for submission. Submit cover letter, resume, unedited legal writing sample, a one page essay on why you are interested in the program, and the two written references with a notation as to how they know you (one must be an academic reference) to: Pfizer, Inc./AALDEF Corporate Legal Internship Program, Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund 99 Hudson Street, 12th Floor New York, New York 10013-2815 Fax: 212-966-4303 E-mail info@aaldef.org

Washington Death Penalty Assistance Center (WDPAC)

Classes: 1L, 2L
The Washington Death Penalty Assistance Center is currently accepting applications for a legal intern. The intern position has flexible hours and would involve up to 15 hours per week. The position is non-paying but the intern may be able to get school credit. The intern would work directly with the Program Director and gain valuable experience in many areas.

Application Deadline: February 1, 2004

Application Materials: Please send a resume, names of two references, and a cover letter explaining your interest in the WDPAC to:
The Death Penalty Assistance Center
Mark A. Larranaga
810 Third Avenue, Suite 800
Seattle, WA 98104
Or via e-mail to malarranaga@msn.com.

JOB ANNOUNCEMENTS

Job announcements are available online at www.eattorney.com. Please e-mail the Career Services Center at careersps@u.washington.edu if you need your login and password. Here are just a few examples of jobs received recently, but many more are listed on eAttorney. Be sure to check it out!

STOEL RIVES, PORTLAND, OR is accepting applications from 1L students for summer associate positions. Please note, ONLY the Portland office has openings for 1L students who are not participating in the diversity program. There is no formal deadline for applications, but sooner is better than later--interviews will be held in January.

Send resume and cover letters to:
Ms. Michelle Baird-Johnson
Lawyer Recruiting Manager
900 SW Fifth Avenue, Suite 2600
Portland, OR 97204
Do not send a writing sample or transcript but be prepared to provide them at a later date.

STAFF ATTORNEY, FEDERAL CLERKSHIP, 4TH CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS

The Office of Staff Counsel, U.S. Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit, is soliciting applications from third-year law students, law clerks and attorneys for staff attorney positions. Staff attorneys are appointed to full-time, two year terms. While exact starting dates are subject to mutual agreement, most successful candidates will be offered positions to commence Summer or early Fall 2004. It is also likely that one or two candidates who prefer earlier starting dates can be accommodated.

Qualifications: Applicants must be students at, or graduates of, AALS-accredited law schools and either must be U.S. citizens or eligible to work for the U.S. government. It is expected that the most competitive applicants will: be in the top 20% of their law school graduating class; have law review or similar legal publication experience, writing experience as a member of an interscholastic moot court competition team, or equivalent exceptional writing experience; possess particular proficiency in legal analysis and writing ability; and demonstrate exemplary oral communication skills. In addition, applicants should possess a genuine interest in the subject areas typically presented in the appeals assigned to staff attorneys. These subject areas include criminal law and procedure, constitutional law, evidence, employment law, civil rights issues, federal jurisdiction, administrative law, and prisoner post-conviction relief issues.

Completed application packages should be postmarked by Friday, February 6, 2004. completed application packages must include: current resume; self-edited writing sample; certified copy of law school transcript; and the names, addresses and telephone numbers of at least 3 references having first-hand bases for evaluating the applicant's aptitude for the work performed by staff attorneys. Please mail to: Carolyn S. Neal, Personnel Officer, Office of Staff Counsel, 600 E. Main Street, Suite 2200, Richmond, VA 23219-2441.

WELCOME BACK!

The beginning of each new year and each new quarter gives new meaning to the term fresh start. We here at Gallagher Law Library hope each of you had a refreshing break and are now ready to start your new term and eager to make a clean, fresh start on your legal studies.

Because our Library was a brand new facility at the start of this school year, there were many opportunities to tour the structure and become familiar with the services we offer to our law school community. If you did not have occasion to take advantage of one of these tours, here is a synopsis of some of our most important services:

- Gallagher Law Library's Home Page: The Law Library’s home page, http://lib.law.washington.edu, is the Law School's equivalent of Grand Central Station. It links to hundreds of pages of information about the Library itself (hours, location, policies, etc.), dozens of different research guides on topics ranging from Acronyms and Abbreviations to Youth: Legal and Law-Related Websites for Kids, and multitudes of resources for law students, such as CALR services and Internet legal research resources.

- Online Catalog: Hopefully by now you have made the acquaintance of MARIAN, the Law Library’s catalog, which is one of the most important resources available to the UW legal community. You can access MARIAN from the Law Library's home page or by going directly to http://marian.law.washington.edu. MARIAN can be searched from any of the terminals located throughout the Law Library or from any computer having web access.

- Reference Help: You can get expert legal research assistance at Gallagher Law Library. If you have questions about finding materials, searching databases, or researching the law, the Reference Staff is happy to help you. Drop by the Reference Office, which is staffed sixty hours a week, if you are here in the building and speak directly with a Reference Librarian, or call (543.6794) if you are away from campus. Additionally, remember that you can use the home page link to E-Mail Reference Form to access online legal research assistance from the Reference Staff.

- Reference Area Collection: The 6500 most highly-used volumes in the Law Library are maintained in the Reference Area in the Library. The checkout time on these materials is limited to either two or four hours, which is intended to maximize access and availability.

- Circulation of Law Library Materials: Most library materials can be checked out by law students for the duration of the academic quarter. Materials can be renewed online through MARIAN or by speaking (in person or by phone) to a staff person at the Circulation Desk (543.4086). If a book you want is already checked out, you can place a hold on it, which will reduce the loan period to two weeks.

- Reserve Collection: Materials selected by your professors may have been placed on course reserve. These materials are maintained along the back wall of the Circulation Desk area and can be obtained by requesting them from a Circulation staff person. Materials set aside as course reserves can be found using MARIAN (Search Marian > Course Reserves > By Course Name [or] > By Professor) or by going directly to http://marian.law.washington.edu/screens/coursere s.html.

- Interlibrary Loan: Do you need a book or photocopy of library materials that are not available locally? If so, the Gallagher Law Library Interlibrary Loan Department is there to assist you. This helpful service is available only to Law School faculty, students, and staff.

- East Asian Legal Materials and Reference Help: Gallagher Law Library maintains an outstanding collection of Japanese, Korean, and Chinese legal materials. You can also receive expert research assistance from the Reference Librarians who staff the East Asian Law Department. You can speak to these librarians in person (inquire at the Reference Office or Circulation Desk about their location) or call 543.7447.

Welcome Back

I hope all of you had a wonderful winter break and have returned for another interesting quarter at the law school. I want to let you know about a few general issues to get you ready for the winter quarter and keep you up-to-date on the SBA’s work.

New quarter—Same Four Goals

While we will all be encountering new classes and professors this quarter, the SBA will continue working on our four pillars for the year that we outlined last quarter. Again our four goals are keeping public service a priority at the Law School, promoting healthy students and healthy lawyers, improving the Career Services office and further developing the organization of the SBA and student organizations.

Public Service—This quarter Dustin Yeager and I will be meeting with Alan Kirtley to discuss the Clinical Program’s new strategic plan as well as working on other aspects of public service at the Law School. We will be bringing Ron Ward, the Washington State Bar President-Elect to the school to discuss the Bar Association and his hopes for a statewide Loan Repayment Assistance Plan (LRAP). We will also continue working with the Bar on the LRAP program and hope to apply for the ABA award for public service for the Law School.

Healthy Lawyers—Abby Daquiz and Suzie Love will continue their work with Dr. Andy Benjamin to develop programs and coffee hours to help students deal with the issues surrounding law school. Suzie will also be working on the Gala for this year and we will be doing everything we can to encourage student groups to host more barbecues and TGITs this quarter.

Career Services—Courtney Popp, Alena Ciecko and Chris Abbott will be working directly with our new Career Services counselor, Michael Mendelson, and the entire Career office to further improve opportunities for law students. We will also be working directly with Dean Madrid, Rob Aronson, and the former head of the Career Services office, Mike Gotham, to search for the new Assistant Dean of Career Services.

Organizational development—Selina Davis, Alena, Patrick McKenna and Julian Wheeler will continue working to improve the SBA constitution and our connections with our alumni community and local legal organizations. This quarter we will be holding a meeting with our faculty committee appointees to better regulate what is occurring in the committees and to improve our institutional memory of the students’ roles in the Law School. Additionally, the SBA will be working with the Alumni Association on their “Young Alumni Night” to connect young alumni with current students and develop our relationship with recent alumni. David Phelan will also continue his work to improve the SBA website and provide more outlines to students.

Additionally, the debate over the semester system will also continue this quarter with another student forum. Rali Badissy and Chris Abbott will continue their work laying the groundwork for curriculum reform. In other words, we have a great deal to do in the next two quarters.
Remembering an Amazing Professor
The Washington Law Review recently published an issue of legal scholarship that was dedicated to our late Professor Joan Fitzpatrick. For many students, especially our 1Ls and LLMs, Joan Fitzpatrick is only a name but as you will be able to tell from the newest edition of the Law Review, she was an amazing scholar and teacher and had an incredible impact on our institution. The SBA, along with Law School staff and administration as well as members of our legal community in Seattle have put together a group of individuals to help raise money for a grant fund in Professor Fitzpatrick’s memory. The details of the program still are being ironed out but it will likely be a PILA-type grant of $2500-5000 dollars for work in human rights. The Fitzpatrick Fund currently has around $10,000 in its account and the committee is looking to raise $15,000-40,000 more through student, class, and alumni gifts. If you are interested in this group please contact Devin Theriot-Orr (sunbird@u.washington.edu) or Emily Peyser (ecpeyser@u.washington.edu) for more information.

Lockers
Lastly, I know that everyone is eager for the lockers to be installed as soon as possible. I have heard from a number of you and want to let everyone know that a new company has been selected for the production of the lockers. Our hope is that construction of our new lockers has already begun and we will have our new containers installed by the end of February. Obviously, this schedule is not definite and may be adjusted but for the first time I think we can see a light at the end of the tunnel. The SBA will continue to keep you updated on the lockers and let you know when they will be ready as soon as we know.

Have a great week.

Volunteer for the Unemployment Law Project!
Interested in employment law? Want to get experience working with real clients? Come to a training for the Unemployment Law Project on Thursday, January 15th from 3:30 - 5:30. The training will be held in the Clinical Law Program's large conference room on the second floor, which means that participants will need to check in at the front desk in the clinic reception area, Room 265, and wait in the reception area until the room is ready.

The training will be conducted by John Tirpak, Supervising Attorney at the Unemployment Law Project and will cover the basics of unemployment law as well as skills for interviewing clients. For more information contact Janel Ostrem at jostrem@u.washington.edu or Professor Maranville at maran@u.washington.edu.

Hope to see you there!

WINTER QUARTER GRADUATES
LL.M. students who are planning to graduate at end of the Winter Quarter 2004 need to be sure to complete an online application with the Graduate School at http://www.grad.washington.edu/stsv/mastapp.htm

J.D. students who are planning to graduate at the end of the Winter Quarter need to get a graduation application from Academic Services, complete it and return it to Academic Services by January 30th.
