DON’T FORGET YOUR EXAM NUMBER!
All students will use the same exam number for spring quarter exams that was used during winter quarter. If you do not have your exam number, be sure to pick it up from Academic Services by June 4th.
For this, the last Crier of the academic year, we’re ‘Spotlighting’ Wendy Condiotty. Wendy is a Secretary Senior and provides support to Professors William Andersen, Steve Calandrillo, Anna Mastroianni and Peter Nicolas-- and, by extension, the students in their classes. She assists in the preparation of exams, course materials and publications (including web formatting, PowerPoint presentations and library research), helps with course evaluations, and responds to student requests. She prepares recommendations for students applying for internships and other positions. Wendy often acts as an intermediary between students and professors, ensuring that student needs are communicated and resolved.

Wendy has a long and varied history with the University of Washington. She has worked at UWLS since March 2001, but has been a UW student most of her adult life. She earned a double major B.A. in Spanish and Clothing Textiles and Art. She returned in 1990 and combined a Marketing and Advertising degree through the School of Business Administration and Communications. She has a Paralegal Certificate from the UW extension program and a Phi Beta Kappa key-- of which she is rightfully proud. Wendy completed an internship with the Washington State Attorney General’s office in the 1990’s, working in the Fair Practices division. Someday, she hopes to take some philosophy courses, “I think I would be good at it.” She says her parents moved to the Seattle area with the hope that she would attend the University of Washington. They may not have realized just how enthusiastic a student she would be; Wendy definitely fits the profile of a ‘lifelong learner’!

Prior to coming to the law school in 2001, Wendy worked in telecommunications for 27 years. When she started in that field, she was working for Pacific Northwest Bell—back in the days when the Bell System was a cohesive whole. When the Department of Justice broke Ma Bell up in 1984, Wendy worked for US West (now Qwest Communications). She held many positions throughout her employment there; some of her responsibilities included interfacing with independent telephone companies to provide seamless service to customers crossing company boundaries, and coordinating and provisioning local access with major long distance firms.

In addition to her duties as a secretary, Wendy serves on the UW Health & Safety Committee. Their goal is to ensure students, staff and faculty can work on and enjoy campus without having to worry about health or safety issues. They work to improve safety measures on campus and educate the campus population on health and safety issues-- including earthquake preparedness, fire prevention and other crucial health and safety issues.

Wendy is busy in her off-hours too. On the side, she has written copy for radio ads for Scan Design furniture and has been a demonstrator at Safeway and a sales associate for the Galleries of Neiman Marcus. She even had three seconds of fame with Ken Schram (of KOMO-TV). She has written several editorials that appeared in the Seattle Times. She keeps a notebook/diary of daily events that affect society at large (kind of like Michael Moore). She collects miniatures, loves to decorate, strives for elegance, and hopes to host thousands of parties one day. Currently, she spends much of her time running the halls of a nursing home looking after her mother. She also hosts overnights with her favorite great-nephew; she was teaching him to play chess, but at eight years old, he is now teaching her!

Wendy is good natured and sincere. She believes in repairing the world-- that it is our responsibility as human beings. “If something is broken, fix it, and most certainly, don’t be the one that intentionally breaks it. And when you fix it, don’t just fix it for yourself.” She advises students to choose your successes wisely. “For every time you derive benefit in this world, chances are very great that it has come at the cost of someone else, whether it be an underling, a colleague, a family member, your community, or the society. When you go out in the world to practice law, strive to practice justice and equity first. If you go out to work in government, never weaken the middle class. To do so is to weaken the ideals of this country.”

When asked what she likes about working here, Wendy says, “We have access to one of the most physically beautiful campuses on earth. Walking around here reminds me of my youth, and how times have changed so much since then. This institution can be an even more beautiful and serene place, especially with regard to how we treat others. It is up to us. Working in academia allows me to be among many refined, dignified and educated people. I enjoy that. We should all strive for those qualities.”

Boss Around Upper Classmates!
Marshalls Needed for Commencement...
Three or four volunteers are needed to enlist in aiding the wonderful process of ushering our 2004 graduates through the intricacies and mysteries of the graduation ceremony. Duty hours: Sunday, 13 June, Meany Hall, approximately 1:00 - 5:00 p.m. Please contact Dean (ballet@u.washington.edu), 685-1327, or drop by room 385. Thanks in advance.
Buyer Beware: If you are considering going outside the Federal Consolidation Program to a private lender to consolidate, make sure you do your home work and read the fine print.

Interest rates change on July 1, 2004

Your consolidation rate will be determined by the date the processor receives the application, not when it is processed. The processor must have received the application before July 1 to be considered for this year’s rate, they do not consider post marked applications.

There are possible reauthorization changes that could change the consolidation interest rate to variable. This is another reason not to delay, this could be your last chance to lock in your rate.

Summer Aid
To receive the maximum in aid it may be necessary to apply for a private loan to cover any unmet need. Below is a list of some private lenders that can assist you. It is critical that you send in your application immediately, so that it can be processed and ready before the start of the quarter. If you have any questions don’t hesitate to contact me. Most lenders are trying to encourage online applications; I do have some materials that you can pick up in my office.

Loan Consolidation
If you were unable to attend the Consolidation Presentation yesterday you can pick up a handout of the material in my office or view the video that will be available in the library on Thursday the 13th. Some of the highlights:

- It is advantageous to consolidate while in an "In-School Status"
- If you consolidate while In-School you do not go directly into repayment or loss your grace period
- If consolidating while in your Grace Period you will go into repayment in 60 days
- You receive a 0.25% reduction in interest rate if you use the Electronic Debit
- The key benefit to consolidation is locking in the current interest rate
- Interest rates are historically low and this is great time to secure a great interest rate

Basic Legal Skills Teaching Fellows
Help others while you polish your own skills!

Description: Teaching Fellows work with small groups (approx. 30) of first-year students under the supervision of the Basic Legal Skills Faculty. TFs conduct workshops and hold office hours to help with skills such as case briefing and synthesis, statutory interpretation, legal research, writing style and organization, and citation form. TFs must be able to attend all BLS classes and maintain at least two office hours per week except during the last three weeks of each quarter. (BLS classes meet three hours in fall, one in winter, and two in spring.) TFs also provide feedback on short, ungraded writing and research assignments. In fall, TFs can expect to work about ten hours for about 8 weeks during fall, six hours for about 8 weeks in winter, and eight hours for about 7 weeks in spring. The position is paid at the rate of $15.00/hour.

Qualifications: UW students, in the second or third year of the J.D. program, and candidates for LL.M degrees are welcome to apply. TFs must be available to meet once or twice in the evening or on a weekend during the summer and must be able to begin regular meetings for training by September 15, 2004. TFs must also be willing to adjust their course schedules to attend regularly scheduled BLS classes and planning meetings throughout the year. Successful applicants will have excellent academic records and demonstrated competence in legal analysis, research and writing. Good organizational and time-management skills are important. Successful applicants will have good interpersonal skills, including the ability to listen and to converse effectively, and an appreciation for and sensitivity to diverse backgrounds and learning styles. Applicants should be empathic, intellectually engaged, and scrupulously ethical.

Applicants must be team-players, able to take direction from BLS faculty and to share ideas and lessons with other TFs. Above all, the successful TF must be really interested in teaching and mentoring first-year students. Plus factors include: prior teaching experience; ESL training; Advanced Legal Research (completed or contemporaneous); significant legal writing, such as a law review article or appellate brief; significant relevant legal practice experience, such as a judicial externship or other job with substantial research and writing; editing experience; fluency in a foreign language; familiarity with interactive web-based instructional materials; and eligibility for work study.

Application Process:
Deadline: June 7, 2004 by hand, e-mail, or mail.
Address: Prof. Kate O’Neill, WHG 314
University of Washington School of Law
Box 353020, Seattle WA 98195-3020

BLOOD DRIVE, TUESDAY, JUNE 1
Bloodmobile parked in lot N-1, next to William H. Gates Hall. Sponsored by SHLO and the Filipino American Student Association

Did you know?
Most of us will require a blood transfusion at some point in our lifetimes. To meet the transfusion needs of patients in our community, at least 900 volunteers are needed each weekday.

Major reasons patients need blood:
- trauma injuries and burns – cancer -- blood and immune system diseases – surgery -- heart and blood vessel disease -- organ and bone marrow transplant

Click on this link for online appt. sign up: http://www.psbc.org/mobiles/giveblood.asp?URL=0935

Five easy steps to giving blood!
1. Eat a healthy meal and drink fluids at least four hours prior to donating.
2. Complete a health history questionnaire and screening interview.
3. Undergo a brief health check of blood pressure, pulse, temp., and iron level.
4. A unit, about one pint, is collected. Actual donation time is about 10 minutes.
5. Enjoy refreshments while remaining seated for about 10 minutes.
The entire process takes about one hour.

If you have a question regarding your eligibility to donate blood and would like to discuss it with a Blood Center nurse, email your question to clinicalprogram@psbc.org or call 800-366-2831, x 2301. For information about the UWLS Blood Drive, contact Craig Allen Gonzales at cagonzo@u.washington.edu.
EXAM AND INTERIM LIBRARY HOURS

Once again, the Library will remain open an additional three hours on the Friday and Saturday immediately before exams begin, i.e., there will be key card access only from 6:00 pm until 9:00 pm on June 4 and 5.

Additionally, carrels on the first floor of the Library will be designated between June 1 and 11 for law student only use for studying and exam-taking.

And if you are planning ahead, you might want to mark your calendar for the upcoming Library closures: June 12, 13, 14, 19, and 20. Regular (summer) hours will begin June 21 and continue through August 20.

SUMMER DREAMIN’ IN FAR AWAY LIBRARIES

--Judy Davis, Resource Sharing Librarian

Where will you be this summer--New York? Rome? Canberra? If your summer plans take you beyond the reach of the excellent resources of the Gallagher Law Library, you may still be able to get what you need to research those articles or briefs you’ve been looking forward to writing over the summer. The Gallagher Law Library is a member of two library consortia that give you access to resources when you’re not in Seattle.

SHARES

As a member of the Research Libraries Group SHARES partnership, faculty, students, and Library staff have on-site access to the 86 SHARES member libraries. This means you can use the collections and services at other SHARES libraries. For example, if you’re in Boston you can use the resources at the Pappas Law Library at Boston University or you can take a short jaunt across the Charles River to the Harvard Law School Library in Cambridge. Take a look at the list of SHARES libraries at http://www.rlg.org/en/page.php?Page_ID=634 to see if you'll be near one this summer.

When you arrive at the institution, you’ll need to present a currently valid Husky card and, at some locations, a photo ID. If you think you’d like to use this service, touch bases with me (lawlibil@u.washington.edu) before you leave so I can contact the other library and, in return, give you contact names at the institution you’ll be visiting.

At SHARES member libraries you'll be able to use the materials while you are in the library, but you will not be granted borrowing privileges. Also, when libraries have restricted stack access, SHARES visitors will receive the same degree of access accorded their peers at the host institution. For example, UW Law faculty would be accorded local faculty stack privileges. Should you need access to special or restricted collections or materials, you will need to make those arrangements in advance.

ORBIS-CASCADE ALLIANCE

Many of you have used Summit, the catalogue of the Orbis-Cascade Alliance, to request books from other Summit libraries. Gallagher’s membership in the Alliance also permits you on-site access to any of the Alliance Libraries. In addition, you can now pick up your Summit books at any Orbis-Cascade Alliance Library. So, if you’re in Portland this summer, not only can you use the library and check out books at Reed College, you can also request items via Summit and have them delivered to Reed College for you to pick up there. For a list of Orbis-Cascade Alliance member libraries see http://libweb.uoregon.edu/orbis/members.html.

We hope you’ll use these membership benefits to your best advantage wherever your summer travels take you.

BRIDGE THE LEGAL RESEARCH GAP!

A common meaning of the word bridge is "a structure that spans or provides passage over a gap or barrier." And this is precisely what the annual Bridge-the-Legal-Research-Gap Program is designed to do. The program was begun with the goal of helping law students who are gearing up for summer jobs to make the transition from academic learning to "real life" legal practice a little bit easier. How is this accomplished?

Well, take a quick look at the afternoon's curriculum on the Library's website, http://lib.law.washington.edu/announce/brt2004.htm, and you'll find the answer to that question. What you are in for is a whirlwind recapitulation of things you ought to know before you put that "lawyer suit" on and head out the door for your new job.

Once again, Gallagher Law Library and Seattle University Law Library have combined forces to bring to summer associates in the Seattle area this FREE,
The Crier, May 31, 2004

The staff of the Gallagher Law Library hopes that we have been able to facilitate your legal research needs during this school year, and we look forward to assisting each of you, as returning student or as alumni, in the years ahead.

GOOD LUCK THIS SUMMER!

SUMMER CONFERENCES
UW Law School students are welcome to attend the following conferences which will be held in W.H. Gates Hall in June:

Information about the conference program can be accessed here: http://www.cali.org/conference/

Up to 20 UW Law School students wishing to attend CALI can register using the CALI Conference Web site registration form, choosing the "Bill Me" option for payment. When the registration is processed by CALI staff, the first 20 UW Law School students registering will receive a complementary registration and no bill will be sent. UW Law School students who receive these complementary registrations for CALI will be welcome to attend any CALI conference events except the Thursday night cruise.

SubTech 2004 8th International Conference on Substantive Technology in Legal Education & Practice (June 21-23, 2004)
Information about the conference program can be accessed here: http://www.subtech2004.org/

UW Law School students are welcome to attend SubTech presentations on a space available basis.

"BRICK WALL" LEGAL RESEARCH SOLUTIONS
A big part of the job of the Gallagher Law Library is to facilitate the legal research needs of our UW Law School students. And for many of you, the summer ahead will provide an abundance of new legal research challenges. If you find yourself up against a "brick wall" research problem but can't make it down to the Law Library for a quick consultation, what are some of your other options?

The Reference Office will be staffed throughout the summer from 10:00 am - 5:00 pm. Both graduates and 1Ls and 2Ls can call and speak with a Reference Librarian at 206.543.7672 during those hours. Returning students can also use the Email Reference Form found on the Gallagher Law Library Homepage, http://lib.law.washington.edu/.

What about after hours? Your best bet, by far, is going to be one of the Gallagher Law Library Research Guides. These are condensed online resources that provide information and advice about the best legal research strategies in over 100 topical areas ranging from Administrative Law Research to Washington State Legislative History. The guides also span the gamut from basic legal research problems, e.g., Drafting Contracts, Cite-Checking and Library Research, and Internet Legal Resources, to more complex legal problems, e.g., Finding Guide for Federal Tax Materials, International Environmental Law Research, and Federal Legislative History.

And that's just the tip of the iceberg. To access the entire list of research guide topics, go to the Law Library homepage, http://lib.law.washington.edu/, locate the Research heading and click on the link to Legal Research Guides.

The program will be held on Wednesday, June 23, 2004, from noon until 5:00 pm right here at Gates Hall. Registration details are available on the Law Library's home page, http://lib.law.washington.edu/announce/btg2004.htm. Space is limited, so take a minute and fill out that form right now. We hope to see you there!

GOOD LUCK THIS SUMMER!

popular, and highly informative program. Courses will be taught by distinguished faculty, including Professors Donaldson and Hazelton, and legal reference librarians from both Seattle University and Gallagher Law Library.

Peer Mentor Program

The SBA coordinates the peer mentorship program, which we feel is an important resource for our first year students. Later in the summer, we will ask for volunteers to serve as peer mentors. Please consider participating in this program. It is a great way to welcome new students to our school, and to help them navigate through the rigors of 1L year.

In addition, for those of you who were involved in the program this year, please take a few minutes to give us feedback. We want to make the peer mentor program even better and more helpful to students; and can only do that if we know what worked and what did not work. Please send comments and suggestions to Cassie Little at cclittle@u.washington.edu.

Last TGIT this year

Don’t miss the APALSA karaoke TGIT! This event is always a favorite and promises to be a good time. Plus, with exams right around the corner, we are all in need of a little stress relief. So come and sing, see your professors sing, and enjoy this fabulous, high-energy TGIT!

UW and Seattle U Charity Softball Tournament

Thank you to the Sports and Entertainment Law Association (SELA) for organizing and hosting a successful softball tournament on Saturday, May 22nd. Everyone had a great time, and the tournament was a good way for members of our community, including faculty, staff, students, and alumni, to come together. Congratulations to the winners: class of 2005 won the co-ed tournament, and the class of 2004 won the men’s tournament.

1Ls and 2Ls

As this year ends and you head off to your summer jobs and extern positions, I would like to encourage you to keep UWLS in mind. By keeping UWLS in mind, I mean think about your goals- both your personal goals for next year and your goals for our community at large. In what ways can our community be strengthened? How can we continue to move in positive directions? And how can you be a part of that?

We are all a part of this community, and we all have ownership in, and a responsibility to our school. There are certainly areas in the UWLS that need change and new direction. Many of you have been vocal and have raised your concerns about our school. I challenge all of you to take the next step and help us work toward finding solutions.

The SBA will be working this summer to prepare for next year. Please feel free to contact any SBA board member. We would welcome the opportunity to brainstorm and strategize about solutions with you.

I am confident that if we work together next year will be both rewarding and successful.

Congratulations class of 2004! Your accomplishments are many, and I would like to thank you for your infinite contributions to UWLS. I feel privileged to know many of you. You are a fantastic group of individuals, and I know you will represent our school well.

Good luck with the bar exam, and I wish you the best in all that you do.

Best wishes with exams, and have a wonderful summer.
