CYBERCRIME LECTURE

Scott Charney,
Chief Trustworthy Computing Security Analyst, Microsoft will speak on “Critical Infrastructure Protection”
Tuesday, December 2, 2003 3:30 pm, EE-105
This presentation is hosted by Ed Lazowska, Bill & Melinda Gates Chair, Department of Computer Science & Engineering.

As we move into the information age, we find ourselves becoming increasingly dependent on computers, networks, and the information they contain. Yet each week we hear of new attacks on the confidentiality, integrity and availability of computer systems, from the theft of personally identifiable information to distributed denial of service attacks. While such attacks may pose a serious threat to our public safety, national security, economic prosperity and privacy, preventing and responding to such attacks raises other complicated social and public policy issues. Scott Charney will detail the history and current state of cybercrime; talk about Microsoft's security initiatives, and identify the challenges governments, industry and the public face as they attempt to prevent and respond to computer abuse.

Charney served an assistant DA in Bronx County before joining the Criminal Division of the US DOJ where he ultimately served as Chief of the Computer Crime and Intellectual Property Section. Before joining Microsoft, Charney led the Cybercrime Prevention and Response Practice at PricewaterhouseCoopers.
Security Tips to Prevent Credit Card Fraud

1. Report lost or stolen cards immediately by calling the Fraud Department of the lending institution. Also, check your cards periodically, just to make sure you have them all.

2. Never give your account number or other personal information over the telephone unless you are positive the caller represents a legitimate business.

3. Always keep your PIN (Personal Identification Number) absolutely confidential. Don't write it on your card or carry it with you and never give it out over the phone.

4. Review your monthly statements carefully. Unauthorized charges should be reported immediately.

5. Sign your new credit cards as soon as you get them. Expired cards should be cut up and discarded.

6. After making a purchase, be sure the card returned to you is yours.

Out of the Office 11/20 & 11/21 and 12/1 through 12/22
I will be out of the office on Thursday and Friday the week of November 17th attending a financial aid conference in Orlando, Florida. I will also be on vacation from December 1st returning on the 22nd. If you have any questions please contact the main campus financial aid office or Assistant Dean Sandra Madrid. Thank you.

MATTHEW W. HILL SCHOLARSHIP
2003-2004 $2,600

The Matthew W. Hill Scholarship Fund was established in honor and memory of Justice Matthew Hill who was a member of the State Supreme Court from 1946 to 1969. Justice Hill passed away at age 94 in 1989. The Scholarship Fund was established by gifts from lawyers who served as Justice Hill’s Law Clerks during his 26 years on the Supreme Court, including three who later became Justices of the Supreme Court themselves.

This scholarship is specifically restricted to the support of University of Washington School of Law students who will be second or third-year students during the 2003-2004 academic year.

Evaluation of your application will be based on your demonstrated financial need and your response to the following essay question:

Describe your involvement in civic or community activities and public service. You should discuss involvement in activities and services before or during your Law School career.

Although not required, you may also submit a letter of recommendation and a resume as part of your application.

Applications can be picked up in WHG 362 and the deadline is November 26, 2003.

OUTSIDE FELLOWSHIPS, SCHOLARSHIPS & WRITING CONTESTS

Copies of materials for the fellowships, scholarships & writing competitions listed below and further information is available in WHG 362.

Dolores Zohrab Leibmann Fellowships

The Leibmann Fund’s purpose is to fund advanced education and study grants, as well as for independent research or study projects. The amount of each fellowship will cover the cost of tuition and a stipend for room, board and living expenses. Please come see me for an application. UW deadline is December 31st.

King County Washington Women Lawyers 2003 Scholarship

King County Washington Women Lawyers is offering a $1,000.00 scholarship to an outstanding female student from each of our local law schools. To be eligible, you must be a 2L or 3L in good standing at the University of Washington, School of Law. KCWWL wishes to promote individualism and courage within the profession. The purpose of the scholarship is to recognize women who have made a significant contribution to the community or have overcome great obstacles, including financial, in their lives. Applications must be received on or before November 20, 2003.

Applications received after November 20th will not be considered.

NEW NSEP FUNDING OPPORTUNITY FOR STUDENTS AT THE ADVANCED LEVEL IN ARABIC, CHINESE (MANDARIN), KOREAN AND RUSSIAN

The National Flagship Language Initiative (NFLI) was developed under the auspices of the National Security Education Program (NSEP) to address the urgent and growing need for American students across disciplines who advance to professional levels of competency in languages critical to national security. NFLI pilot programs have been developed at several U.S. institutions of higher education for advanced language training in Arabic, Korean, Mandarin Chinese, and Russian. Each of these Flagship Programs is designed to train students to the federal Interagency Language Roundtable (ILR) "3" / American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL) "Superior" level. An individual at this level is considered to have "professional working proficiency" in a language.

As an integral component of the NFLI, NSEP is offering a very limited number of Fellowships, administered through the Academy for Educational Development (AED), to qualified American students interested in receiving full financial support to participate in one of the Flagship Programs. NSEP/NFLI Fellowships requirements include U.S. citizenship (not permanent residence), a minimum current knowledge of a Flagship language at an ILR "2"/ACTFL "Advanced Low," excellent skills in English (ILR "3"/ACTFL "Superior" or higher language proficiency in all modalities), and a strong commitment to seek long-term employment in an agency or office of the U.S. federal government involved in national security affairs. Past recipients of David L. Boren Undergraduate Scholarships or Graduate Fellowships are eligible and are encouraged to apply to this new program. (For language proficiency levels, please see ILR's and ACTFL’s websites, www.govtillr.org and http://www.languagetesting.com/scale_acade.htm, respectively.)

The deadline for submission of application for NSEP/NFLI Fellowships is January 30, 2004. Individuals who apply for NSEP/NFLI Fellowship support must also prepare a separate application for the program of interest at one of the participating Flagship Institutions (see below). Each program will consist of overseas study only or a combination of in-residence stateside intensive language programming as well as study abroad. Specific Flagship Program information may be obtained by contacting the Flagship Institution directly.

The National Security Education Program (NSEP) was created by Congress in 1991 to enhance U.S. national security by increasing the nation's capacity to deal effectively with foreign cultures and languages. NSEP recognizes a broad definition of national security that includes not only the traditional concerns of protecting and promoting American well-being, but the new challenges of a global society, including sustainable development, environmental degradation, global disease and hunger, population growth and migration, and economic competitiveness. A significant component of its mission includes increasing the pool of applicants qualified to work in agencies of the U.S. federal government involved in national security affairs where cultural and language expertise is required. Since 1994, NSEP has pursued these objectives through the David L. Boren Undergraduate Scholarships, the David L. Boren Graduate Fellowships, and the NSEP Institutional Grants.

Looking for a Past Crier Announcement?
It's just a few clicks away…

The Crier is now posted and archived online each week at www.law.washington.edu/Students/StudentNews/
Once you find the item you want in the Summit catalog, you can request it online using your Gallagher library barcode, and the book will be sent to Gallagher Law Library. Requested books are delivered directly to faculty offices, while students can pick up their books at the Circulation Desk. The Summit loan period is three weeks with one renewal for all borrowers regardless of status.

You also have the advantage of being able to visit any Summit library in person and check out books as a visiting patron using your Husky card. Just identify yourself as a Summit or Orbis-Cascade Alliance patron.

Note: For University of Washington items, law faculty and students who bypass Summit to borrow directly from the UW libraries will receive the longer loan periods they currently enjoy. Library staff will continue to borrow books for faculty by proxy for those who need the longer loans. If you are a faculty member who wants to get a book from the UW libraries, you can email circdesk@u.washington.edu.

If you have any questions about Summit, please contact Judy Davis, Resource Sharing Librarian at 543-4262 or davisja@u.washington.edu.

SBA Column

Keeping Public Service a priority

This week all of the committees from the SBA provided me with their respective plans for the year. All of these plans have been combined into a “white paper” which contains all of the goals and plans for the SBA’s pillars of the 2003-04 school year. The combined document will be revised and approved by the SBA next week so that I can present the information to the faculty at their next meeting. The document will be sent out to the student body via the Lawdawgs system and we will keep copies of it in the SBA office.

While I have already discussed three of our pillars in Crier columns this year (Career Services, Organizational Development and Healthy Lawyers), I need to address our final goal, keeping public service a priority. This year our committee on public service will be focusing on three areas of public service critical to the Law School; the loan repayment assistance plan (LRAP), the UW Clinical Program and general promotion of public service careers. Specifically, our committee has outlined the following steps that we will undertake to make sure that public service is a top priority in our community:

♦ Place more UW students on the Washington State Bar Association LRAP Taskforce;
♦ Push the Clinical program at the Law School to produce a plan which includes a structure and vision for growth in the next ten years;
♦ Gather and promote data about the number of hours dedicated to public service by students at the Law School;
♦ Use the data we gather to apply for the ABA Award for Public Service for UW;
♦ Establish close links with PILA to determine a plan for the future of LRAP and public service at the Law School from a student’s perspective;
♦ Host a public forum on the LRAP program (including members from the student body, faculty and bar); and ♦ Obtain a public commitment from the Law School Administration that public service is a cornerstone of the University of Washington history and vision.

Obviously we will add to this list throughout the year and plan to mention this topic as one of our four main goals at all public events. If you have any questions, ideas or concerns about our work on public service this year, please contact either Dustin Yeager (YEAGER@U.WASHINGTON.EDU) or me.
Having trouble finding a seat in the library?

Many students have expressed to SBA Board members their frustrations about the library. Complaints range from lack of seating to misuse of computers. I would like to assure everyone that Dean Hazelton, her staff and the SBA are all working hard to create an environment that is open to all students and allows students to study in peace. Rali Badissy and Tom Smith from the SBA have been meeting with Dean Hazelton to produce a number of ideas and programs that will help alleviate some of these concerns. All of the parties involved in these discussions are considering the possibility of a “bubble” around the finals week that allows only students from the Law School access to the library. Please recognize that we are all working to come up with a solution that allows all students access to the library on a regular basis but ensures that our environment is always courteous and professional.

Faculty Meeting/Dean’s retreat

The SBA Board will be meeting with the members of the Administration on Monday, November 10th to have another SBA/Dean’s cabinet retreat. We will be discussing a number of issues and working to improve the high quality of communication that we already have with our deans. One of the biggest topics that we will cover will involve the consideration of making the Law School open for 24-hour access. We will hear from UW Police Department and hopefully make some progress toward making the building more accessible.

Additionally, the faculty meeting will be held Thursday, November 13th at 3:30 p.m. in room 115. As always, the meeting is open to the public and many SBA members will be in attendance. I will be presenting the white papers that the SBA has developed for our projects this year and also pass on the sentiments of the students. Please join the SBA if you are available on Thursday afternoon to listen to the faculty and express the voice of our student body.

Secretary Elections

The election for SBA Secretary will be from November 10th through the 12th. There are three candidates for the position and you can find information about their respective campaigns on the SBA easel. Voting for the election will take place entirely over the internet. Please let any of the SBA Board members know if you have problems with the voting procedures.

Next week I will be talking about the differences between the semester and quarter systems and am interested in your input. Do you think it would be good for us to move to the semester system? Please let me know you thoughts and I will discuss some comparative schools next week and share my thoughts.

Have a great week and enjoy the day off.

SYLAW EVENT MENTIONED IN SEATTLE P.I.!

Thanks to everyone who participated in the first of our quarterly Donut Dialogues partially sponsored by Street Youth Legal Advocates of Washington! The Donut Dialogues bring homeless youths and police officers together for constructive conversations to help ease the tension often felt between these two groups. This first event, lead by Elissa Brine and Eric Peterson, was very successful and brought law students in to observe and help by taking notes. A Seattle P.I. reporter was there to witness this great success. Read the full article at: http://seattlepi.nwsource.com/local/144052_donut16.html. For more information on SYLAW activities, stop by our office in room 216 or email keok@u.washington.edu. More exciting events to come soon!
