AUTUMN QUARTER GRADES
Faculty will be submitting their grades during the first two weeks of the quarter. They will be processed and the grades posted as follows:

1L Scores: 1Ls will receive an “N” on their transcripts (indicating satisfactory progress in a continuing quarter course), and will pick up their exam scores from Academic Services after they are processed. We will send messages to Lawdawgs when scores are ready to be picked up.

Grades for Other Students: Grades for classes that are completed at the end of the Autumn Quarter will be processed as received and sent to Schmitz Hall for posting to transcripts. Continuing quarter courses will have an “N” noted on the transcript record.

Distribution Book: A distribution of grades report is prepared for any graded class with an enrollment of over 15 students. These reports are kept in a binder that can be seen at Academic Services, room 361.

ADD/DROP PERIOD
During the second week, there is a $20 charge for any day that a student makes a change to their schedule. The last day to add a law course is Friday, January 13th. Any drops past this date will be indicated on the transcript with a “W.”

GRADUATION APPLICATIONS
Students who plan to finish their studies at the end of the Winter Quarter need to complete an online graduation application during the first three weeks of the quarter.

#1 STUDENT LEGAL SERVICES: ONE FULL-TIME SUMMER 2006 INTERNSHIP
Are you a second year law student? Tired of the books? Looking forward to real client contact and court experience after your 2L year?
UW Student Legal Services may be just what you've been looking for. We've been providing effective and practical assistance to UW students for 35 years. Join the tradition! Apply for our full-time summer internship!
Our clients are UW students with real legal needs: landlord-tenant, family law, criminal, traffic, insurance, debtor-creditor, consumer, estate planning, etc. You'll educate, advise, grapple with ethical issues, negotiate, appear in court, and do everything real lawyers do except (hopefully) grind your teeth.
$15/hr. Work-study OK. 35-40 hours per week (flexible) during summer, continuing part-time (10 hrs./wk.) fall through spring quarter as 3L. Must be Rule 9 eligible by end of summer 2006. Can also work as extern.

#2 STUDENT LEGAL SERVICES: SIX INTERNSHIPS START FALL 2006
UW Student Legal Services, a campus subsidized law office assisting undergraduate and graduate students, has six openings for legal interns beginning autumn quarter 2006 and lasting through spring quarter. 10 hours per week. $15/hr. Work-study OK. Must be Rule 9 qualified by end of summer quarter. SLS will help you with Rule 9 process. Can also work as extern.
UW Student Legal Services offers a great overall law experience. Cases run the gamut: landlord/tenant, criminal, family law, consumer, debtor/creditor, insurance, estate planning, etc. You'll represent real clients from the initial interview to courtroom appearances.
Student Legal Services has been providing effective, affordable legal counsel to UW students for 35 years. Come join the tradition!

Three C’s for Internet Research

Have you ever used Wikipedia? It’s a no-fee encyclopedia that’s available on the Web and its entries often turn up in Google search results. Did you know that those entries are created by the users and that anyone can edit and change the entries at any time? Recently, inaccuracies were discovered with some of the entries and a brouhaha ensued. For example, John Siegenthaler, a prominent journalist, complained that his entry was modified to implicate him in both Kennedy assassinations. Wikipedia is instituting changes, including adding a new “stable” version of the encyclopedia where the entries will have been reviewed, but the controversy raises a good point about using Internet sources for research. Before you rely on them, ask yourself what I call the “Three C’s.”

- Correct?

- Comprehensive?
  Is the information comprehensive? Complete? Are there gaps or anything missing in the information?

- Current?
  Is the information up-to-date? When was it last updated?

By asking the Three C’s, you can better assess the overall reliability of any source that you find on the Web.

Book of the Week: Long Goodbye

by Jocelyn Kennedy, Reference Intern

Nancy Cruzan stopped breathing on December 25, 1990. According to her family, she died in January 1983 when she entered a persistent vegetative state and her brain function all but disappeared. Long Goodbye is the story of the Cruzan family’s fight to terminate medical life support. You may be familiar with Cruzan v. Director of Missouri Dept. of Health, 497 U.S. 261 (1990), the Supreme Court decision that made “Cruzan” a household name as the first “right to die” case decided by the Court, either from a health law or constitutional law class, or perhaps from the recent news connected with the Schiavo case. Schiavo ex rel. Schindler v. Schiavo, 403 F. 3d 1289 (11th Cir. 2005).

Written by the family’s attorney, Long Goodbye chronicles the Cruzan family’s seven years of anguish beginning with a single car accident in early January 1983. Although primarily focused on the three-year suit to remove Nancy’s feeding tube, it is more than just a story of the lawsuit; it guides the reader through the preparation and presentation of the case at trial, state court appeals, and finally the U.S. Supreme Court decision. Long Goodbye is the story of one family grappling with an incredibly difficult decision and it invites the reader into the tragedy of the Cruzan family, sharing the stark reality that was their life during Nancy’s illness and beyond. Everything about the Cruzan case is a tragedy in its truest sense, from beginning to end.

Long Goodbye is also the story of a young corporate attorney, Bill Colby, who took a pro bono case to gain trial experience and ended up arguing the first “right to die” case before the Supreme Court. This is the kind of experience law students dream about. Upon realizing the constitutional issues that emerged from the Cruzan family’s request to remove Nancy’s feeding tube, Colby says, “I felt like a real lawyer. This was the kind of night that people wrote about in their law school applications in the ‘Why do you want to be a lawyer?’ section.”

The practice of law is very much about the clients you serve. Long Goodbye demonstrates the impact an attorney can have on his client’s life, and also shows the way a client can change an attorney’s life. Bill Colby made partner at his law firm during the Cruzan case. Then after the death of Nancy Cruzan, Bill Colby became a national speaker on the “right to die” issue, served on the faculty at the University of Kansas School of Law, and most recently was a fellow at the Midwest Bioethics Center.

Long Goodbye is a must read, especially if you intend to practice health law. It is a must read not because what it adds to your scholarly knowledge but because of the humanity it brings to a difficult and perilous legal question: When should society “allow” someone to terminate life? Many ask the questions “how can they let her die” or “how can they let her live” and Long Goodbye shows us, with heartbreaking clarity, the answer. Long Goodbye also shows the perspective that you won’t find in a text book or the Supreme Court decision – the stake the litigants have in the outcome, the effort exerted by the attorneys, and the emotional toll difficult legal issues can have on all those involved.

SBA COLUMN

Welcome Back

I hope that everyone had a wonderful and relaxing winter break, and that you are enjoying winter quarter so far. I want to let you know about a few things we are planning for winter quarter and keep you up-to-date on the SBA’s work.

New Quarter, Same Four Goals

While we will all have new classes and professors this quarter, the SBA will continue working on our four objectives for the year that we outlined last quarter. Again, our four goals are: 1) increasing the integration of UWLS students into the Seattle legal community, 2) promoting the agenda and accomplishments of our student body, 3) assuring that the academic atmosphere of UWLS is beneficial and appropriately challenging for students, and 4) maintaining and improving the physical aspects of Gates Hall.

Legal Community Integration – This committee will continue working to help students develop professional relationships with alumni and other legal professionals. This quarter, the committee will bring in speakers from various bar associations, work with the alumni association and career services to get alumni involved on campus, and keep students informed about networking events and CLEs. Upcoming event:

- Open Forum with WSBA President S. Brooke Taylor January 11, 2006 (Wednesday), 12:30 PM - 1:20 PM, Room 138

Students First - This committee will continue to work to promote a strong student community here in Gates Hall and to promote student needs and accomplishments to the administration, faculty and legal community. This quarter, the committee will plan several small, fun activities such as wine tasting or museum visits. Further, the committee is working to plan a stress reduction workshop.

Academic Achievement – This committee will continue to meet with BLS professors to assist with a positive and productive development of the BLS program and with the initial appointments committee as work to bring new faculty members to UWLS. In addition, members of this committee are looking at ways to create an online database of class and professor evaluations, will address the semesters versus quarters issue, and will work to ensure that public service remains a priority at the law school.
Facilities – This committee will continue its great work in assuring that Gates Hall is the best possible place for law students to learn and grow. One of the main goals of this committee is to continue to work on a student-centered social space.

A few quick additional items to keep in mind:

• Attention 2Ls: Hump Day is approaching! More information to come. Congratulations on being almost halfway through law school.
• A Town Hall Meeting will be held on January 31, at 12:30. Dean Knight and other deans, as well as the SBA, will be on hand to address student concerns and answer questions, as well as to provide updates on important UWLS information. More details of the Town Hall Meeting will come in later weeks.
• This quarter will bring the return of the popular Texas Hold ‘em Charity Poker Tournament. More details to come!

Have a great week!

Cassie Little
SBA President
cclittle@u.washington.edu

TGIT THURSDAY, JANUARY 12
Join Outlaws and the ACLU this Thursday at 3:30 to learn about the status of Washington's same-sex marriage case and a Lambda Legal signature campaign. Reception to follow.

Student Commons, 3:30 - 5:30 p.m.

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION--Save the date!

Speakers will address the business end of how to start a solo practice and former Washington Supreme Court Justice and Washington state legislator Phil Talmadge will discuss how to get employment with the court, private practice and politics. Also planned for the meeting will be speakers on emergency preparedness law as well as a run down on what to expect from the bar exam. The meeting ends with an elegant dinner on a luxurious Argosy cruise around Puget Sound.

Where: Seattle University School of Law
When: March 4th.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PRESENTATION
The Technology Law Society presents its latest Intellectual Property Faculty Presentation. Please join us next Tuesday, January 10th at 3:30 in room 115B-C (note the afternoon time slot).

Professor Sean O’Connor will give a brief presentation, followed by a Q & A session. Professor O’Connor's research is focused on biotechnology and the law and on transactional intellectual property law. Outside of teaching, Professor O’Connor is also a consultant for non-profit organizations and Washington start-up companies.

Washington Law Review 2L Write-on Competition
Please be aware of the following deadlines for the Washington Law Review's 2L write-on competition:

Friday, January 27, 2006 – topic proposal must be emailed by 5:00 p.m. to Randall Olsen (randall@u.washington.edu).

Friday, April 7, 2006 – Papers must be submitted by 1:00 p.m. to the Office of Academic Services in Room 364.

These are hard deadlines. Topic proposals or papers submitted after the above dates and times will not be considered. The write-on competition packet was sent out as an attachment to a lawdawgs email to the 2L class on Tuesday, January 3, 2006. Additional electronic copies may be obtained from Randall Olsen (randall@u.washington.edu). This packet contains extremely important information regarding the application process. PLEASE CAREFULLY REVIEW THE PACKET.

Best of luck,
Randall Olsen
Associate Editor-in-Chief

WINTER QUARTER EXAM SCHEDULE
The exam schedule is now posted online at http://www.law.washington.edu/Students/examSchedule.html. This page also includes links to the exam instructions and the reschedule request form.
PALS QUARTERLY MEETING
PALS (Parents Attending Law School) will have its one and only quarterly meeting for Winter quarter on Tuesday, January 10th at 12:30 in Room 138. Topics will include elections for next year’s officers and board, feedback on PALS, and events for the rest of the year. Join us! All are welcome including those expecting, those with children (no matter what age), and those considering having children.

FORUM ON HUMAN TRAFFICKING
Please join the Human Trafficking Outreach Committee, Co-Sponsored by the Rescue and Restore Coalition (Seattle), WA State Trafficking Response Team, Immigrant Families Advocacy Project (IFAP) - UW School of Law, Law Women’s Caucus-UW School of Law, Center for Human Rights and Justice - UW School of Law and the Korean American Law Students Association-UW School of Law, for:

A Community Forum on Human Trafficking
University of Washington School of Law, William H. Gates Hall, Rm. 133
January 12, 2005
6-7:30pm

According to the U.S. government, about 800,000 to 900,000 men, women and children are trafficked each year across international borders worldwide for sex and labor. Approximately 15,000 to 19,000 of those victims are trafficked into the United States. Human Trafficking is modern-day slavery. Victims may be coerced to engage in prostitution, pornography, domestic servitude, sweatshop factory work, migrant agricultural work, restaurant work, and other types of work. Learn more about human trafficking and how it is affecting your community!

For more information, please contact: mariee@u.washington.edu.

Light refreshments will be provided.

FRENCH CONVERSATION GROUP
Parlez vous francais? Interested in keeping up with your French language skills while busy with the law? Join the new French conversation group at the law school, an informal group of law school students where we will talk about everything and anything, but in French of course! I also plan to show one or two French movies during the course of the quarter. We will meet Wednesdays from 12h30-1h30 starting January 11, 2005, all levels welcome! E-mail Tessa Capeloto at tcape@u.washington.edu if interested and stay tuned for location information.

"IMPLICATIONS OF KELO VS. CITY OF NEW LONDON"
arguably one of the closest-watched cases of the Supreme Court's 2004-05 term

Washington State Supreme Court Justice Richard Sanders ’69 and UW School of Law Professor Stewart Jay

"The US Supreme Court has ruled that local governments may seize people’s homes and businesses — even against their will — for private economic development.

It was a decision fraught with huge implications for a country with many areas, particularly the rapidly growing urban and suburban areas, facing countervailing pressures of development and property ownership rights." (Associated Press, June 23, 2005).

Join Washington State Supreme Court Justice and alumnus Richard Sanders and UW Law School Professor Stewart Jay as they discuss the implications of Kelo v. New London on the private homeowner, local government and our country as a whole.

BLSA Events: Open to ALL students

Legal Perspectives Series
You know negligence. You've mastered the UCC. Nothing can stop you. Or so you thought. Do you know how to handle the politics of the legal world? BLSA's legal perspectives series presents: The Law and Politics of it all... Are you prepared? Bonnie Glenn, Deputy Chief of Staff, King County Prosecutor's Office will talk about the big and small things that matter.
Join us at 12:30 pm on January 17. Location TBD.

"In a sense we have come to our nation's capital to cash a check. When the architects of our republic wrote the magnificent words of the Constitution and the declaration of Independence, they were signing a promissory note to which every American was to fall heir. This note was a promise that all men would be guaranteed the inalienable rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Hear the voice that changed America. Absorb the power within the speeches of the legend and the man. Join us at lunch on January 12th in Room 133 to see footage that should inspire each of us to embrace the prospect that social change is possible within the law.
