WINTER QUARTER GRADES
Faculty will be submitting their grades during the first two weeks of the quarter. The faculty adopted due date for winter quarter grades is Monday, April 10th. The grades will be processed as received and sent to Schmitz Hall for posting to transcripts. All students will receive their grades via MyUW. Continuing quarter courses will have an “N” noted on the transcript record.

Distribution Book: A distribution of grades report is prepared for any graded class with an enrollment of over 15 students. These reports are kept in a binder that can be seen at Academic Services, room 361.

ADD/DROP PERIOD
Students may add and drop classes and independent study enrollments during the first week of classes without a change fee. Beginning Monday April 3rd there is a $20 charge for any day that a student makes a change to their schedule. The last day to add a law course is Friday, April 7th. Any drops past this date will be indicated on the transcript with a “W.”

GRADUATION APPLICATIONS
Students who plan to finish their studies at the end of the Spring Quarter need to complete an online graduation application during the first three weeks of the quarter.

- J.D. students will find the link to the application at: http://www.law.washington.edu/Students/
- LL.M. students need to go the Graduate School website: http://www.grad.washington.edu/strv/mastapp.aspx

Externship Information Session:
April 4th at 10:30am in Room 138
Mary A. Hotchkiss, Director of Academic Advising

Before graduating, each J.D. student must perform at least 60 hours of public service legal work. The Public Service requirement may be met by enrollment in a clinic, in the Street Law program, or by completing a Public Service Externship of at least two credits. The goals of the public service requirement are to educate students about the attorney’s ethical responsibility to provide pro bono legal assistance; to foster a lifelong commitment to public service; and to develop students’ lawyering skills.

In order to earn academic credit, students must enroll and pay tuition. One academic credit is awarded for every 30 hours of public service. Externships of 10 credits or more have additional requirements, including a contemporaneous perspectives seminar (that is an additional 2 credits) and a site visit by a faculty member during the externship. For more information, please check the resources online at http://www.law.washington.edu/Career/PS/publicService.html.

Please note that there is a cap on the total number of credits students may earn during the summer quarter, whether the student is taking courses, enrolled in an externship, combining coursework and an externship, combining an externship and study abroad experience, etc. The maximum number of credits a student may earn in the summer is 16 credits. For students doing longer externships during the summer this works out to 14 externship credits plus the 2 credit perspectives seminar. During Summer 2006 there will be two externship perspectives seminars: one at the law school, in the late afternoon, and an online seminar for students enrolled in externships that are more than 25 miles outside of Seattle.

If you are considering a Summer 2006 externship (as well as other summer academic options) you are not alone! To learn more, please join John Chung, Assistant Director for Public Service, Susan Lien, Public Service Coordinator, and Mary Hotchkiss, Director of Academic Advising, on Tuesday, April 4th from 10:30-11:20am in Room 138.
NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Assistant Dean Madrid First Hispanic Woman to Chair United Way Board

United Way of King County (UWKC) has announced the election of Sandra Madrid, Assistant Dean for Students and Community Development for the UW law school, as Board Chair for 2006-2007.

Dean Madrid, the first Hispanic woman to become UWKC Board Chair, has served on the Board of Directors for nine years and held a variety of positions. UWKC is the largest United Way chapter in the U.S. In addition, she is currently a member of the National Board of Directors of the Girl Scouts of the USA and Chair of the Board of Directors of the National Hispana Leadership Institute. She also serves on numerous local boards.

"I'm more excited than ever to tap individual strengths and expertise at our disposal to help our neighbors overcome huge challenges in our society," said Dean Madrid. "I'm extremely committed to United Way's vision to end homelessness and help kids succeed in school. I'm also looking forward to making measurable progress on other key issues such as basic education and healthcare for all residents."

Dean Madrid came to the UW School of Law in 1989. Her responsibilities include oversight of recruitment, admissions and financial aid. She also provides personal counseling and serves as Dean of Students and as Director of Personnel for classified and professional staff. She has received many honors including: The Spirit of Excellence Award from the American Bar Association Commission for Minorities in the Profession; the Leadership Tomorrow Edward E. Carlson Outstanding Alumna Award; one of 75 Distinguished Leadership Award winners from the National Association for Community Leadership; the Outstanding Non-Lawyer Award from the National Association for Community Leadership; the Outstanding Non-Lawyer Award from the King County Bar Association; the Champion of Diversity Award from the King County Bar Foundation; and the Excellence in Diversity Award from the Washington State Bar Association. She was featured in Hispanic Outlook in Higher Education as one of "20 Trail Blazing Mujers: Elite Cadre in Higher Education" (February 2004).

UW School of Law Study Abroad Program Receives Grant

UW School of Law Professors Anita Ramasastry and Walter Walsh recently received a $2,500 grant to support the 2006 Early Fall Study Abroad Program. The grant is funded by the Schwartz International Studies Endowment from the UW Office of International Education.

This is the second year that Ramasastry and Walsh will teach law students in Rome, Italy. Last year, law students joined undergraduates from the Law Societies and Justice Program at the UW Rome Center for one month. This year, Ramasastry and Walsh will work in collaboration with Professor Michael McCann (Political Science) and undergraduate advisor Sabrina Tatta (French and Italian Studies).

Law School to Co-Host Public Symposium on Human Rights

Several UW departments will host, "Human Wrongs and Human Rights - A Public Symposium" Monday, April 10, 2006, 7-9 PM, Room 138 (Gates Hall), University of Washington School of Law (Seattle). The event is free and open to the public.

Wars, interventions, epidemics, revelations of torture, and controversies over freedom of speech and freedom of religion have put the issue of human rights back on the front pages of American newspapers. This symposium will pose questions regarding human rights, including: Is there a moral standard from which we can legitimately critique actions by ourselves and others when charges of human rights violations are raised? Three of the world's leading scholars on human rights will be on hand for a discussion of these questions. The event also celebrates the publication of UW Philosophy Professor William Talbott's book, Which Rights Should Be Universal?

The symposium is sponsored by the University of Washington Program on Values in Society (Department of Philosophy), the UW College of Arts and Sciences, the UW School of Law, the Comparative Law and Society Studies Center, the Walter H. Simpson Center for the Humanities, the Evans School of Public Affairs, and the UW Department of Political Science.

Deadline: May 1, 2006

TAKUJI YAMASHITA ENDOVED MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP
The Takuji Yamashita Memorial Scholarship was established in 2001 by his descendants and friends to provide assistance to students of Asian decent enrolled in the School of Law who have demonstrated a particular interest in human and civil rights. Takuji Yamashita, a native of Japan was among the first students enrolled at the University Of Washington School Of Law in 1900. Distinguishing himself for his skills in moot court, he graduated in 1902. He later passed the bar examination. However the laws at the time did not allow non-citizens to be admitted to the bar and people of Japanese decent were not allowed to become American citizens. On March 1, 2001, the Washington State Supreme Court posthumously admitted Takuji Yamashita to the Washington State Bar. In recognition of Takuji Yamashita’s place in the history of American civil rights, the history of the legal profession in the State of Washington and the history of the University Of Washington School Of Law, we will award this scholarship in his honor each year.

Scholarship: Approximately $2,000 for the 2006-2007 academic year.

Application: Applicants will submit a one-page description of their demonstrated interest in international human and civil rights. Although not required, you may also submit a letter of recommendation and a resume as part of your application. Application materials should be turned in to the Financial Aid Office in room 362.

Deadline: May 26, 2005

Governor's Office Opportunity
DEADLINE HAS BEEN EXTENDED TO 9:00AM, April 3rd
Work in the Governor's Office, directly with the Governor's General Counsel! General Counsel to the Governor provides a variety of legal advice to the Governor and the Governor's Senior Staff including advice on: judicial appointments; clemency or pardon petitions; ethics; legislation; executive orders; and veto powers. General Counsel also acts as the liaison between the Governor's Office and the Attorney General. This is an amazing opportunity to realize public service in the highest levels of state government.

For students interested in public policy and state governance issues, this externship presents a unique opportunity to work directly in the Office of the Governor on important issues affecting the state. Ideal candidates are 3Ls who are able to extern a minimum of 16 hours per week (two full days are preferable), without any conflicts with their academic schedule. The extern must arrange his/her own travel to and from Olympia. The state does not reimburse employees or volunteers for mileage or parking.

The externship period is for the Autumn Quarter 2006. Please submit a one-page resume only (Times New Roman, 12 point font). The margins should be standard Word file margins. Include your unofficial grade point average for law school, and grade points average(s) for undergraduate and graduate school (if applicable). Please state in your resume under the topical heading "Availability," the weekly dates and times that you are available to extern (e.g., Mondays and Wednesday from 8am to 5pm). All resumes that are timely submitted will be reviewed and considered by General Counsel.

Please email resumes to John Chung, jchung@u.washington.edu in Career Services by 9am on April 3, 2006 (Career Services will announce interview candidates in early April. General Counsel to the Governor will conduct interviews in person at the law school in mid-April (exact date TBA).

TORTURE, TRIALS, AND TRUTH: HOLDING HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSERS ACCOUNTABLE IN THE UNITED STATES

Dr. Terry Lynn Karl, Stanford University
Thursday, April 13
Parrington Forum, 4:30-6:00 pm

Professor Karl will reflect on her recent experience as an expert witness in a series of major human rights and war crimes trials in the United States. These trials, addressing violent abuses committed in Central America since the late 1970s, have set important legal precedents with respect to war crimes, crimes against humanity, and command responsibility. Professor Karl will discuss how human rights trials do and do not contribute to building a record of historic truth; how to prove command responsibility against military and civilian leaders who oversee human rights atrocities; and how human rights trials form part of a larger social movement for justice and accountability.

Terry Lynn Karl is the Gildred Professor of Latin American Studies and Professor of Political Science and the William R. and Gretchen Kimball University Fellow at Stanford University. She has published widely on comparative politics and international relations, with special emphasis on the politics of oil-exporting countries, transitions to democracy, poverty and inequality, the global politics of human rights, and the resolution of civil wars. Her publications include The Paradox of Plenty: Oil Booms and Petro-States (University of California Press, 1998) and numerous other books and articles on comparative democratization, ending civil wars in Central America, and political economy.

This lecture is sponsored by the Law School; the Department of Political Science; the Comparative Law and Society Studies (CLASS) Center; the Marc Lindenberg Center for Humanitarian Action, International Development, and Global Citizenship; and the Latin American Studies Program.

National Library Week

Sponsored annually by the American Library Association since 1958, National Library Week celebrates our nation’s libraries by promoting the use and support of all types of libraries – academic, public, corporate, etc. This year, National Library Week takes place April 2-8 and the Gallagher Law Library is taking part in the celebration with the following activities.

- Faculty Profiles
  Visit the Library and take a look at our posters and profiles for select faculty members. Find out what their favorite books are, what their toughest law school courses were, their childhood ambitions, and more! The photos and profiles also will be posted on the Law Library website.

- Legal Research Crossword Puzzle
  Pick up the puzzle at the Circulation Desk and submit your answers by 5:00 PM on Friday, April 7. Correctly completed puzzles will be put in a drawing for two $10 gift certificates to the University Bookstore. If no puzzles are completed correctly, those that are completed at least half correctly will be entered into the drawing.

- Candy Contest
  Guess the number of M&Ms in a glass jar! The candy jar and entry forms will be at the Circulation Desk until 5:00 PM on Friday, April 7. The person who guesses closest to the exact number wins the jar and all of the candy.

The Library also will provide free candy all week (or until supply runs out) in the Law Student Lounge and Reference Office.

Trivia Contest Deadline Is Friday

Test your knowledge of diplomatic, official, and social protocol. Pick up a trivia contest entry form in the Reference Office and return your answers by Friday, April 7 for a chance to win small prizes!

Tax Returns

The filing deadline is approaching fast. Although we can’t fill out your tax forms for you, we can certainly help you locate the forms you’re looking for – visit the Reference Office, call 543-6794, or check out our guide at http://lib.law.washington.edu/ref/taxforms.html.

Book of the Week:
by Mary Whisner

After a successful career in business, Charles Rossotti agreed to take the top spot at the Internal Revenue Service at a time when its approval rating was at an all-time low, congressional hearings were exposing terrible mishandling of taxpayers, and the agency was limping along with outdated technology. In Many Unhappy Returns, he recounts his experiences during the five years he served as the IRS commissioner (1997-2002). One commissioner said of the job: “The hours are impossible, the pay is lousy – but you get lots of abuse.” (p.42) Nonetheless, Rossotti kept at it and turned the agency around.

Rossotti describes several incidents where people you’d expect to be knowledgeable about the agency (e.g., tax lawyers or accountants) were astonished at some aspect of the IRS’s internal workings. To communicate the need for modernization to skeptical Congressional and Treasury staffers, he rented a bus and took them first to a credit card call center in Wilmington (highly computerized, efficient) and then to the IRS service center in Philadelphia (cramped spaces; employees referring to computer, paper manual, and hand-held calculator – and the computer database was only updated weekly while the paper manuals often didn’t reflect the latest changes in the code or the regs). “An observer did not require a degree in computer science to see why taxpayers who called MBNA in the morning and the IRS in the afternoon were likely to be disappointed by the IRS, no matter how hard the agency employees tried.” (p. 200)

This book is not just for tax specialists. Many Unhappy Returns is published by the Harvard Business School Press (in partnership with the Kennedy School of Government) as part of a series exploring the role of leaders in business, government, and society. Even though the IRS is distinctive in many regards, many of the lessons Rossotti sketches are applicable to other organizations. It’s an interesting peek at an administrative agency’s workings from the inside. It offers an interesting perspective on congressional oversight, legislation, and working with the president’s administration. (Note that he served under both President Clinton and President Bush.)

CLINICAL LAW PROGRAM-INFORMATION FAIR and "Mingler"

1L’s, 2L’s and LLM’s are invited to attend the CLINIC INFORMATION FAIR on Wednesday, April 12th, 12:30-1:20 p.m., in room 138, as well as an afternoon Mingler, 3:30-5:00 p.m. in the Perkins-Coie Room (115). Take advantage of a great opportunity to meet with clinic faculty, staff, and current CLP students.

The lunch hour session covers eligibility and requirements, the pre-registration process, clinic history, as well as a few student stories “from the trenches”. The Mingler will go a step further, providing interested students with a chance to chat one-on-one in an informal atmosphere over their favorite beverage and snacks. Hey, the sun might even shine!

If you are interested in experiencing a “real” client practice while attending law school you will not want to miss these highly informative events.

PATENT BAR PRESENTATION:

If you are a student with a science or engineering undergraduate degree (or the equivalent) and interested in becoming a Patent Agent or Attorney, Practising Law Institute (PLI) invites you to a presentation by Mark Dighton, PLI's Director of Law School Relations and a Director of their Patent Bar Review Course. Topics for discussion include:

- the latest info on the new computer-based Patent Bar Exam,
- who can take it,
- when you should take it (you don't need to...and probably shouldn't...wait until you graduate to take the Exam), and
- recommendations on when and how to study for this very difficult Exam.

Date: Wednesday, April 5th
Time: 3:00 PM
Location: Room 115
Pizza and soda provided!

Please RSVP to techlaw@u.washington.edu if you intend to come.
'DONATE A DAY'S PAY' FOR CHRJ
IMPORTANT UPDATES

If you are working for a firm this summer and if you care about human rights, donate a minimum of $100 to the Center for Human Rights and Justice (CHRJ) summer human rights grant fund, and you are invited to a thank-you party at the home of Professor Kristen Stilt. At the party, you will get to chat informally with Joel Ngugi, Kristen Stilt, Sean O'Connor, Paul Miller, Anita Ramasastry and Steve Calandrillo. We will serve you home-cooked food and have plenty of beer and wine. The party starts April 8, 2006 at 7:00 p.m. We hope to see you there!

If you are considering 'Donating a Day's Pay,' here are a few important things to know:

* Spouses and significant others are welcome to attend (no additional donation necessary).
* Donations to the grant fund are tax-deductible.
* It is possible to pledge the donation and provide payment at a later date.

* Please RSVP by 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, April 4th by emailing chrj@u.washington.edu or stopping by the CHRJ bookstore during lunch to inform us of your intent to donate/pledge.

IFAP FELLOW – PAID POSITION
Looking for a summer job? Interested in becoming more involved with one of the law school's student organizations?

Join us for the IFAP Spring Quarter General Meeting on Thursday, April 6th, during lunch in room 133. We will talk about how to apply for the IFAP Fellow Position, a PAID position that will begin during Summer Quarter 2006 and continue throughout Autumn Quarter 2006. We will also talk about upcoming elections for the 2006-07 IFAP Steering Committee. Prior involvement with IFAP is not required for either the fellowship or to serve on the Steering Committee. We hope to see everyone there, snacks will be provided!

HUMAN WRONGS AND HUMAN RIGHTS – A PUBLIC SYMPOSIUM
Wars, interventions, epidemics, revelations of torture, and controversies over freedom of speech and freedom of religion have put the issue of human rights back on the front pages of American newspapers. Is there a moral standard from which we can legitimately critique actions by ourselves and others when charges of human rights violations are raised? Join three of the world's leading scholars on human rights for a discussion of these vital topics while we celebrate the publication of our colleague William Talbott's book, Which Rights Should Be Universal?

When: Monday, April 10, 2006, 7-9 PM
Where: William H. Gates Hall, Room 138, University of Washington Law School, Seattle
Free and open to the public. A reception follows the symposium. Questions? Contact Andrew Light at alight@u.washington.edu
