WINTER QUARTER GRADES
The faculty adopted due date for Winter class grades is Monday, April 10th. The grades will be processed as received and sent to Schmitz Hall for posting to transcripts. All students will receive their grades via MyUW. Continuing quarter courses will have an “N” noted on the transcript record.

Distribution Book: A distribution of grades report is prepared for any graded class with an enrollment of over 15 students. These reports are kept in a binder that can be seen at Academic Services, room 361.

SPRING QUARTER FINAL EXAMS
The exam schedule can be found online at http://www.law.washington.edu/Students/examSchedule.html. There is a link for the separate compressed class exam period (May 18-20).

Students who have more than one exam on the same day or more than two exams in consecutive calendar days, may complete a exam reschedule request to move an exam to a later date (as an automatic approval).

Students with other needs may submit a request through Academic Services for a reschedule of an exam.

DO NOT CONTACT YOUR PROFESSOR ABOUT RESCHEDULING AN EXAM.

Variation from the original exam time will be permitted only for an automatic reason (noted above), severe mental or physical illness, or very unusual or demanding circumstances that make it unreasonably difficult or burdensome to meet the scheduled time. Rescheduling exam is not done generally for activities such as travel, field research, interviews (personal or school related) and other personal events such as weddings, reunions, etc.

First Recipients of Gates Public Service Law Scholarship Announced

Gates PSL Scholars have the opportunity to attend the UW School of Law and then pursue public interest law without the crushing burden of educational debt. The scholarship program covers all cost of tuition, books, room and board and incidental expenses during law school. In exchange, students make a commitment to work for five years in public service. Each of the first Gates PSL Scholarship recipients say the chance to earn a law degree from one of the finest schools in the nation, free of any debt, is a dream come true. The financial assistance provided by the scholarship allows them to move directly into jobs doing what they love – providing public service to those in need. Brief biographies of each of the first five Gates PSL Scholars for 2006-07 appear at http://www.law.washington.edu/News/Articles/2005Archive/2006GatesScholars_bios.html

The Gates PSL Scholarship Program is named in honor of William H. Gates (Bill Gates) and his commitment to public service. Bill Gates has had a distinguished career in law and many years of public service and presently serves as Co-Chair of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. The Scholarship Program was announced on the occasion of his eightieth birthday November 2005. Five scholarships will be awarded on an annual basis to first year students entering the UW School of Law J.D. program. Each Gates PSL Scholarship award will cover tuition, books, other normal fees imposed for University and UW School of Law enrollment, costs of room and board and incidental expenses. Acceptance of a Gates PSL Scholarship represents a commitment on the part of each recipient to work in public service for five years following graduation.
NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

UW Law Librarianship Program Ranked #1

US News and World Report and has ranked the UW Information School Law Librarianship Program number one in their annual look at America's best graduate schools.

The Law Librarianship Program is designed to prepare lawyers with an existing JD degree to serve as law librarians in courts, federal and state government, law schools, corporations, and law firms. The program was created in 1940 and has over 220 graduates.

The program is directed by Associate Dean for Library and Computing Services Penny Hazelton. Mary Hotchkiss, Director of Student Academic Counseling, teaches the students with Hazelton.

Other UW School of Law rankings in the USNWR issue include:

- Intellectual Property Program at the UW School of Law was ranked = 17
- Environmental Law Program at the UW School of Law was ranked 19
- Tax Law Program at the UW School of Law was ranked 13
- UW School of Law was ranked 27 out of all U.S. law schools

UW Law School Announces 2006 Sampson Fellows

The UW School of Law proudly announces the 2006 recipients of the William Sampson Fellow in Comparative Public Interest Law: Elisabeth Ahlquist, Jill Monnin, Rebecca Huffman, Cecelia Boudrea, and Patrice Kent. The 2006 Fellowship recipients were announced at a luncheon attended by Andy Pike, Consul for Northern Ireland to the U.S. on March 30, 2006 in Gates Hall.

The Sampson Fellow program, sponsored by the law school's European Law Initiative (ELI), provides an externship opportunity for one UW law student to spend up to four months working in Europe at a human rights non-profit or NGO. Traditionally, Sampson Fellows have worked with the Free Legal Advice Centres (FLAC) in Dublin, Ireland.

"I was able to see first-hand what public interest law looked like in a comparative jurisdiction," said John Smelcer (3L), the 2004 Sampson Fellow recipient.

The Fellowship's namesake, William Sampson, was an Irish Protestant human rights lawyer, who, after being imprisoned, disbarred and banished from his homeland following the 1798 Rebellion, practiced as the United States' first career human rights lawyer. In New York City, Sampson brought test cases on behalf of Irish Catholic refugees, defended striking union shoemakers against conspiracy charges, represented African-Americans in pre-Civil War America, and a host of other "unpopular" causes in the courtroom. He died in New York in 1836.

Seed IP Law Group Founders Scholarship
Applications are now being accepted for the 2006-2007 Seed IP Law Group Founders Scholarship. The Seed IP Law Group Founders Scholarship commemorates the contribution of the firm’s founders, Richard Seed and Ben Berry, to excellence in Intellectual Property legal work. Ben and Dick were both recognized as leaders in the I.P. field and together they founded and built one of the top I.P. firms in the country. In honor of their contribution, this scholarship recognizes excellence in an I.P. student at the University of Washington School of Law. To receive the scholarship, the student must be enrolled in the I.P. concentration program, either for the JD or LLM programs. Applications should include (1) a cover letter explaining the applicant's qualifications, (2) a resume, and (3) two letters of recommendation (preferably faculty members). A Seed IP Scholarship Committee composed of local practitioners and law faculty reviews applications. The deadline for submission is May 19th, 2006.

WSBA Labor and Employment Law Internship Program
The Labor and Employment Law section of the WSBA and the University of Washington School of Law will provide a total of $5,000 in funding for a qualified student for the summer of 2006. Applications available in room 362. Deadline for materials is May 1st.

Association of Trial Lawyers of America Scholarship
The 2006 Alia Herrera Memorial Scholarship, in the amount of $3,000 is open this year only to all students attending law schools in Seattle. Please visit my office for full application materials. Applications must include a 500 word essay on the following:

“Do you believe victims of defective products that meet federal standards should be limited from recovering damages from the manufacturers of the defective products?”
Deadline: May 1, 2006

Takuji Yamashita Endowed Memorial Scholarship
The Takuji Yamashita Memorial Scholarship was established in 2001 by his descendants and friends to provide assistance to students of Asian decent enrolled in the School of Law who have demonstrated a particular interest in human and civil rights. Takuji Yamashita, a native of Japan was among the first students enrolled at the University Of Washington School Of Law in 1900. Distinguishing himself for his skills in moot court, he graduated in 1902. He later passed the bar examination. However the laws at the time did not allow non-citizens to be admitted to the bar and people of Japanese decent were not allowed to become American citizens. On March 1, 2001, the Washington State Supreme Court posthumously admitted Takuji Yamashita to the Washington State Bar. In recognition of Takuji Yamashita’s place in the history of American civil rights, the history of the legal profession in the State of Washington and the history of the University Of Washington School Of Law, we will award this scholarship in his honor each year.

Scholarship: Approximately $2,000 for the 2006-2007 academic year.

Application: Applicants will submit a one-page description of their demonstrated interest in international human and civil rights. Although not required, you may also submit a letter of recommendation and a resume as part of your application. Application materials should be turned in to the Financial Aid Office in room 362.

Deadline: May 26, 2005

John H. and George V. Powell Endowed Award for Human Rights
I am very pleased to announce the fourth annual John H. and George V. Powell Award for Human Rights. This award provides assistance to J.D. students doing summer internships or externships in the area of Human Rights and Justice. The scholarship fund will award $1,000 in financial assistance. Applicants will submit a one-page paper describing their Human Rights summer opportunity. Recipients will be selected by the Dean upon the recommendation of faculty members in accordance with the donor’s terms. The deadline is May 5, 2006. Papers should be submitted to Arlo Hammontree in the Financial Aid Office in room 362.

Off-Campus Access
--Cheryl Nyberg

Have you discovered the Off-Campus Access link in the upper right-hand corner of every Law Library webpage?

Click on the link, type in your UW NetID, and you will enjoy seamless access to the dozens of commercial indexes and databases to which Gallagher Law Library subscribes, such as HeinOnline and LegalTrac.

The same link is found on the UW Libraries webpages (in the upper right-hand corner) and works the same way.

Interdisciplinary Databases

Gallagher Law Library subscribes to many commercial indexes and databases for your research needs, but did you know that UW Libraries offers thousands more indexes and databases including electronic books, journals, maps, newspapers, and reference tools? Next time your research takes you beyond the law into other subjects, check out http://www.lib.washington.edu/types/ or consult with a librarian in the Reference Office to identify the most appropriate resources.

Lost & Found

Have you lost or misplaced something in or around Gates Hall? Then stop by the Lost & Found at the Circulation Desk in the Law Library which is the official collector of unclaimed items for the Law School. After a while, all unclaimed items are taken to the campus-wide Lost & Found located at the Information Desk in the Husky Union Building (HUB) (hours and location at http://depts.washington.edu/sauf/hub/infodesk.php).

Books of the Week
--Kristy Moon

Washington Probate Deskbook (KFW144.A75 W37 2005 at Reference Area).

Are you interested in wills and trusts? Whether you’re asked by family and friends to help plan or probate their estates (this can truly happen – see our previous article at http://lib.law.washington.edu/news/2006/Jan23.html), plan to become an estate planning attorney (conventional wisdom says that there will be an increasing demand for this type of service when baby boomers retire soon), or simply want to prepare ahead for the bar exam (each state’s bar exam is unique but almost all states test this subject whether they incorporate the Multistate Bar Exam (MBE) into their exams or not – Washington doesn’t include the MBE), this is a useful subject to know.

Two deskbooks on this subject were published by the Washington State Bar Association (WSBA) last year. The work on the Washington Estate Planning Deskbook and the Washington Probate Deskbook began in 2003 when the WSBA and a newly created Deskbook Advisory Panel began discussing the project. The estate planning program held regularly at the UW Law School and chaired by UW Law Professor Thomas Andrews provided the starting point. Many of the program presenters became the Deskbooks’ authors and Professor Andrews provided leadership as a member of the Deskbook Advisory Panel and the Steering Committee. So it is no surprise that Professor Andrews is one of the editors-in-chief for both of these Deskbooks.

Although it stands very well on its own, the Probate Deskbook is meant to be a companion volume to the Estate Planning Deskbook. Both books are published in a loose-leaf format and come with CD-ROMs that contain numerous forms and checklists. Although the forms and checklists are also in the books, the CD-ROMs provide a handy way to fill in the blanks of a form online and print it out.

In addition to the CD-ROMs, both books have these features: Table of Cases, Table of Statutes, References (list of citations to secondary sources that were mentioned in the book; includes references to chapter(s) and section(s) in the book where the source was mentioned), and Subject Index. Also, look for “Practice Tips” in square boxes that are found throughout both books.

Some highlights of the Probate Deskbook include timelines for the various steps in the probate or non-probate process (Chapter 2), non-probate transfers with forms for typical situations (Chapter 4), and probate of Native American estates (Chapter 12). The Estate Planning Deskbook chapters “are arranged in a way that roughly mirrors the steps in the estate planning process.” Highlights include federal and state tax considerations relevant to estate planning (Chapter 5), issues stemming from changes in circumstances between the time of the execution of a will and the death of the testator (Chapter 8), and the interface between divorce and estate planning (Chapter 9).

Browsing just the Table of Contents for these books will give you a good idea whether this subject appeals to you as a possible specialty and what kinds of issues may appear on the bar exam (or come up via your family and friends).

Please note: The Law School's non-discrimination policy prohibits any employer using Law School facilities for recruitment purposes from discriminating on the basis of sexual orientation. However, the Law School is compelled by the Solomon Amendment to permit the U.S. Military to use Law School facilities for recruitment purposes despite its discrimination against gay and lesbian persons. Under this law, universities that do not allow the U.S. Military access to students for recruitment purposes lose federal funding. In no way does the Law School condone the U.S. Military's continuing discrimination against gay and lesbian persons.

TORTURE, TRIALS, AND TRUTH: HOLDING HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSERS ACCOUNTABLE IN THE UNITED STATES

Dr. Terry Lynn Karl, Stanford University
Thursday, April 13
Parrington Forum, 4:30-6:00 pm

Professor Karl will reflect on her recent experience as an expert witness in a series of major human rights and war crimes trials in the United States. These trials, addressing violent abuses committed in Central America since the late 1970s, have set important legal precedents with respect to war crimes, crimes against humanity, and command responsibility. Professor Karl will discuss how human rights trials do and do not contribute to building a record of historic truth; how to prove command responsibility against military and civilian leaders who oversee human rights atrocities; and how human rights trials form part of a larger social movement for justice and accountability.

Terry Lynn Karl is the Gildred Professor of Latin American Studies and Professor of Political Science and the William R. and Gretchen Kimball University Fellow at Stanford University. She has published widely on comparative politics and international relations, with special emphasis on the politics of oil-exporting countries, transitions to democracy, poverty and inequality, the global politics of human rights, and the resolution of civil wars. Her publications include The Paradox of Plenty: Oil Booms and Petro-States (University of California Press, 1998) and numerous other books and articles on comparative democratization, ending civil wars in Central America, and political economy.

SBA COLUMN

Building Security

Thank you to everyone who attended last Tuesday’s town hall meeting regarding building security. The SBA is currently working with the administration to clearly establish guidelines and policies regarding the security of our building.

Currently, Bill Thornton is working to gather up information about the locker break-ins and make sure that students have the best information possible on what happened and how to protect themselves in the future. This was a very unfortunate situation and I hope that it does not happen again.

Although I know building security and related issues are topics that raise a lot of concerns and opinions, I ask that everyone keep an open mind and be willing to compromise to achieve the best result for our community. And let’s all keep in mind that our community involves not only students but staff, faculty, practitioners and community members.

Also, it’s important that students take responsibility for themselves. Keep track of your own valuables. If you see something suspicious, report it to Michael Hernandez, the library staff or the UW Police. Be aware of your surroundings. Security is an issue that affects us all and one that we can all work on together. Playing the blame game will not achieve anyone’s desired result.

SBA Elections

Nominations for next year’s SBA Executive Board are currently open. Please consider running for one of these positions. SBA board positions are valuable experiences. SBA executive board members have opportunities to work closely with faculty, administrators and alumni.

All SBA positions are currently up for election. If you have any questions about the elections process, serving on the board or any of the positions, please contact myself or any SBA officer.

Sign-ups will end on Wednesday, 4/12.

Annual Gala

The Annual Law School Gala is this coming Friday, 4/14! At this event, the SBA will present several awards: The Philip Trautman 1L Professor of the Year, The Philip Trautman Small Section Professor of the Year, The Philip Trautman Large Section Professor of the Year, The Mary F. Starr Staff Person of the Year, 2 Charles Z. Smith Public Interest Student of the Year and the newly initiated Student Organization of the Year.

In addition to the awards, the SBA has worked to improve the gala. This year the event will be held at a new venue, Tom Douglas’ Palace Ballroom. Tom Douglas is Seattle’s most famous chef and heads great restaurants like the Dahlia Lounge and the Palace Kitchen. The gala will feature Tom Douglas food, desserts from the Dahlia bakery and great music.

Tickets will be sold through next Wednesday, 4/12. However, there is a ticket limit of 300 this year. So once that number is reached, no more tickets will be sold. Get yours while they last!

Have a great week!
