SUMMER 2006 COURSE OFFERINGS

The Summer Quarter class schedule is now online at http://www.law.washington.edu/students/registration/SummerQuarter2006.pdf.

PLANNING FOR THE 2006-07 ACADEMIC YEAR

The planning packet with next year’s course offerings is scheduled to be distributed during this week. Please watch your email for more information.

SPRING QUARTER FINAL EXAMS

The exam schedule can be found online at http://www.law.washington.edu/Students/examSchedule.html. There is a link for the separate compressed class exam period (May 18-20).

Students who have more than one exam on the same day or more than two exams in consecutive calendar days, may complete a exam reschedule request to move an exam to a later date (as an automatic approval).

Students with other needs may submit a request through Academic Services for a reschedule of an exam.

DO NOT CONTACT YOUR PROFESSOR ABOUT RESCHEDULING AN EXAM.

Variation from the original exam time will be permitted only for an automatic reason (noted above), severe mental or physical illness, or very unusual or demanding circumstances that make it unreasonably difficult or burdensome to meet the scheduled time. Rescheduling exam is not done generally for activities such as travel, field research, interviews (personal or school related) and other personal events such as weddings, reunions, etc.

CHANGES FOR NEXT YEAR’S TRIAL ADVOCACY PROGRAM

Law B 520 Trial Advocacy

3 credits - Autumn

Instruction in fundamental skills of trial advocacy; e.g., courtroom psychology and jury persuasion; techniques of direct and cross examination of lay and expert witnesses; opening statements and closing arguments; depositions and discovery; and jury selection. Student performances will be videotaped in class for subsequent review and critique. Prerequisite: Law B503 Evidence (may be taken concurrently). Enrollment may be limited. Offered on credit/no credit basis only.

Law B 521 Advanced Trial Advocacy

6 credits - Winter-Spring

This course addresses more advanced trial advocacy issues than are covered in the basic course in Trial Advocacy (B520). Students will select a civil or criminal “track” for their study in this course and work over the course of the two quarters with trial lawyers who specialize in that area of practice on more sophisticated issues of strategy, evidence, creative use of exhibits at trial, technology in the courtroom, and ethics. Weekly classes will meet in the evenings in a downtown courtroom. During the second quarter, students will prepare and present all aspects of a contested case culminating in a complete jury trial before a judge of the King County Superior Court. Offered only as a graded course. Prerequisite: Law B520 Trial Advocacy and permission of the Director of the Trial Advocacy Program.

Law E 521 Trial Practice in Federal Courts

3 credits -- Winter

The course will focus on some or all of the following areas of trial practice in federal courts: client communications, cost effective case management, pleadings and motion practice, difference between state and federal practice, the local rules of the Western District of Washington, mysteries inside chambers, discovery, managing the "big" case, settlement negotiations/ADR, the Federal Rules of Evidence, Rule 11 and sanctions, expert witnesses, demonstrative evidence, preparing for trial, and, finally, the trial itself. Evaluation will be based on a paper or papers and on in-class demonstrations. Offered on a credit/no credit basis only. No prerequisites but Evidence (B503) and Trial Advocacy (B520) are recommended.

Seed IP Law Group Founders Scholarship
Applications are now being accepted for the 2006-2007 Seed IP Law Group Founders Scholarship. The Seed IP Law Group Founders Scholarship commemorates the contribution of the firm’s founders, Richard Seed and Ben Berry, to excellence in Intellectual Property legal work. Ben and Dick were both recognized as leaders in the I.P. field and together they founded and built one of the top I.P. firms in the country. In honor of their contribution, this scholarship recognizes excellence in an I.P. student at the University of Washington School of Law. To receive the scholarship, the student must be enrolled in the I.P. concentration program, either for the JD or LLM programs. Applications should include (1) a cover letter explaining the applicant's qualifications, (2) a resume, and (3) two letters of recommendation (preferably faculty members). A Seed IP Scholarship Committee composed of local practitioners and law faculty reviews applications. The deadline for submission is May 19th, 2006.

WSBA Labor and Employment Law Internship Program
The Labor and Employment Law section of the WSBA and the University of Washington School of Law will provide a total of $5,000 in funding for a qualified student for the summer of 2006. Applications available in room 362. Deadline for materials is May 1st.

WSBA Tax Scholarship
The WSBA Tax Section is pleased to announce its fifth annual tax scholarship of $5,000. Eligible individuals are any students currently attending a Washington law school with plans to attend an LL.M. tax program in 2006-2007. Please visit room 362 for more information.

Association of Trial Lawyers of America Scholarship
The 2006 Alia Herrera Memorial Scholarship, in the amount of $3,000 is open this year only to all students attending law schools in Seattle. Please visit my office for full application materials. Applications must include a 500 word essay on the following:
“Do you believe victims of defective products that meet federal standards should be limited from recovering damages from the manufacturers of the defective products?”
Deadline: May 1, 2006

Takuji Yamashita Endowed Memorial Scholarship
The Takuji Yamashita Memorial Scholarship was established in 2001 by his descendants and friends to provide assistance to students of Asian decent enrolled in the School of Law who have demonstrated a particular interest in human and civil rights. Takuji Yamashita, a native of Japan was among the first students enrolled at the University Of Washington School Of Law in 1900. Distinguishing himself for his skills in moot court, he graduated in 1902. He later passed the bar examination. However the laws at the time did not allow non-citizens to be admitted to the bar and people of Japanese decent were not allowed to become American citizens. On March 1, 2001, the Washington State Supreme Court posthumously admitted Takuji Yamashita to the Washington State Bar. In recognition of Takuji Yamashita’s place in the history of American civil rights, the history of the legal profession in the State of Washington and the history of the University Of Washington School Of Law, we will award this scholarship in his honor each year.

Scholarship: Approximately $2,000 for the 2006-2007 academic year.

Application: Applicants will submit a one-page description of their demonstrated interest in international human and civil rights. Although not required, you may also submit a letter of recommendation and a resume as part of your application. Application materials should be turned in to the Financial Aid Office in room 362.

Deadline: May 26, 2005

John H. and George V. Powell Endowed Award for Human Rights
I am very pleased to announce the forth annual John H. and George V. Powell Award for Human Rights. This award provides assistance to J.D. students doing summer internships or externships in the area of Human Rights and Justice. The scholarship fund will award $1,000 in financial assistance. Applicants will submit a one-page paper describing their Human Rights summer opportunity. Recipients will be selected by the Dean upon the recommendation of faculty members in accordance with the donor’s terms. The deadline is May 5, 2006. Papers should be submitted to Arlo Hammontree in room 362.

Public Computer Terminals

Following a recent Law School Town Hall meeting, we disabled sound on all public computer terminals in the Library except for the four “legal research only” terminals in the Reference Area. We hope that this leads to a happier study environment for our law students. If you have any other concerns about the Library, please talk to a Library staff member or send your comments via the red “Email Reference” link on the Library’s homepage. (Note that we can only reply to messages if you give your email address.)

National Library Week -- Winners

The National Library Week events were a huge success thanks to all the faculty, staff, and students who participated. We received much positive feedback on our faculty profiles http://lib.law.washington.edu/announce/nlw06/profile.html. Two students, Erin Lennon and Danika Adams, correctly completed the Legal Research Crossword Puzzle and won $10 gift cards to the University Bookstore. There were 165 entries for the Candy Contest with the lowest guess at 100 and the highest guess at “a bajillion.” The largest number of guesses fell in the 300 range and the next largest number of guesses fell in the 1000 range. The actual number of M&Ms in the jar was 853. Although eleven people guessed in the 800 range, no one guessed 853. Sarah Hale and Jeremiah Miller came the closest with 850 and, since there was a tie, we randomly picked one person to win the jar of candies and the other person to receive a bag of M&Ms. Congratulations to all the winners!

Trivia Contest Results
--Christopher O’Byrne, Law Library Intern

Thank you to all who participated in the Trivia Contest based on the book, Protocol: The Complete Handbook of Diplomatic, Official, and Social Usage. David Orange and Mike Coccaro correctly answered at least three of the questions and received small goodies from the Library. For those of you who are trivia buffs, see the answers below.

3. What are the only four valid excuses for refusing to accept an invitation to a White House function? A death in the family, illness, a wedding in the family, or absence from Washington or out of the country on the date.

4. In the Appendix section entitled “Dealing With the Press” what advice do the authors give regarding the acknowledgement of “unpleasant circumstances” (e.g., divorce, alcoholism, arrest, etc.)? It is better to issue some kind of statement than to refuse to answer. Refusal will only lead to speculation and probably conjectures which are worse than the actual situation. Of course, if the situation is so bad that anything is better than the truth, that is another matter.

5. What is the rank of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in the “Protocol Order of Precedence”? What is the rank of an Associate Justice? The Chief Justice is ranked #3 (after the Speaker of the House of Representatives and ahead of Former Presidents of the United States). An Associate Justice is ranked #8 (after “Ministers and Envoys Extraordinary of foreign powers” and ahead of The Cabinet (other than the Secretary of State)).

6. Do Retired Associate Justices of the Supreme Court retain their title? Do those who resign? Retired Associate Justices retain their titles, those who resign do not.

7. What are the two proper forms of salutation for an Archdeacon (Protestant Episcopal)? Venerable Sir or Dear Archdeacon Doe

8. Under what circumstances is it appropriate to request an invitation to a formal event for oneself? Invitations should not be requested for oneself to any function.

9. When George Washington was inaugurated, the Supreme Court had not yet been formed. Who administered George Washington’s Oath of Office? Chancellor Robert Livingston

10. How many guns are included in the salute honoring the Chief Justice of the United States? How many guns for an Associate Justice? What music should be played? Both the Chief Justice and Associate Justices merit a 19 gun salute. In both instances, the appropriate music to play is the “Admiral’s March.”

Book of the Week
--Kristy Moon

If you plan to practice law in Washington State, Washington Practice is a useful source to get to know. It is a practitioner-oriented treatise that explains Washington law in seventeen selected topical areas. Currently, the set is published as twenty-one individual titles with a different author for each title. Real Estate: Property Law and Transactions, found in volumes 17 and 18, is authored by UW Law Professor William Stoebuck. Volume 17 covers basic property law and land-use planning. Volume 18 covers conveyancing and development of land, including real estate financing. The two volumes were first published in 1995 and the second edition was released in 2004 by Professor Stoebuck and SU Law Professor John Weaver. The second edition contains two new chapters -- Chapter 10 on rights against other landowners and Chapter 18 on real estate transactions such as real estate contracts, deeds, mortgages, and deeds of trust.

Although Washington Practice tends to be popular for its sample forms and practice tips (and numerous footnotes that cite primary authority and secondary sources), this title also has a fair amount of legal theory with some commentary on how Washington law has developed or should develop. Researchers will find this a helpful source.

Each title within Washington Practice set has its own index in the last volume of the title (also look for a Table of Cases, and Table of Law and Rules in the last volume of each title). There is also a General Index at the end of the set. Because Washington Practice is published by West, it is available on Westlaw; however, the indexes and tables are not online.

Many states have state-specific legal encyclopedias and/or state law treatises similar to Washington Practice. To find out whether a state has such a source, search the online catalog of a law library in that state. Many state law encyclopedias and treatises can also be found on LexisNexis and Westlaw.

Jag Information Session:
April 19th, 12:30-1:20PM, Room 217
US NAVY Judge Advocate Generals office will hold an information session to discuss their JAG Program. Please note: The Law School’s non-discrimination policy prohibits any employer using Law School facilities for recruitment purposes from discriminating on the basis of sexual orientation. However, the Law School is compelled by the Solomon Amendment to permit the U.S. Military to use Law School facilities for recruitment purposes despite its discrimination against gay and lesbian persons. Under this law, universities that do not allow the U.S. Military access to students for recruitment purposes lose federal funding. In no way does the Law School condone the U.S. Military’s continuing discrimination against gay and lesbian persons.

Using Your Legal Training in the Business World

Thursday, April 20

12:30 -1:20, Room 117

Hosted by: Society for Small Business Development (SSBD)

A presentation by Dan Poston, Assistant Dean for Masters Programs at the UW Business School, will be held Thursday, April 20 from 12:30-1:20 in Room 117. In his "prior life" Dan was an attorney and business consultant who provided pro bono legal services to the Latino community in Los Angeles. Join us and he shares ways that law graduates can use their legal training in the business world without serving as legal counsel.

Technology Law Society Lunch Presentation:

What does the client need from an IP attorney?

Join us next Wednesday, April 19th at 12:30 in Room 119 for short presentations and Q & A with Glenn Kawasaki, Ph.D., and Professor Sean O’Connor.

Dr. Kawasaki is an entrepreneur holding a Ph.D., MBA, and law degrees. Since serving as the first scientist and later Chair of the Science Board at Zymogenetics, Inc., Dr. Kawasaki has founded several biotechnology companies. He most recently joined Accium BioSciences as CEO and director. He will discuss the services and skills that a startup client needs from counsel, and answer your questions about working in the startup environment. Professor O’Connor's research is focused on biotechnology and the law and on transactional intellectual property law. He is also a consultant for non-profit organizations and Washington start-up companies.

Lunch will be served-just bring your questions!

WASHINGTON LAWYERS PRACTICE MANUAL
The Washington Lawyers Practice Manual is a comprehensive reference set designed for practitioners, compiled and offered exclusively by the King County Bar Association's Young Lawyers Division. The publication provides instant access to 23 of the most frequently used areas of Washington State law, including Criminal Trial Practice, Evidence, Land Use and Environmental Law, and Property.

The WLPM is a valuable tool for students interested in becoming summer interns or just brushing up on a given area of law. It also makes an excellent graduation gift.

Check it out on the web at www.kcba.org/WLPM. You can purchase the entire manual or just the chapters you're interested in. The manual is available in hard copy and CD-ROM. You can view the chapter tables of contents by clicking on the chapter titles on the order form page.

Order forms are available online and at the bulletin board across the hall from the student mailboxes.

CONFERENCE FOR DIVERSITY COMING SOON!

Getting Ahead & Giving Back: Diversity in Washington's Legal Community will be held at Seattle University on June 2, 2006. The conference is $25 dollars for Law School students and includes resume review and speed networking! The event starts on June 1st with a welcome reception hosted by Starbucks and the WSBA Committee for Diversity. The Conference begins June 2nd with a continental breakfast and registration followed by 2 plenary sessions and 3 concurrent sessions discussing such topics as getting hired as outside council, increasing the diversity of students attending law school, and how the legal system uses labels and why understanding the differences between labels is important to judges, lawyers, and their clients to starting a law practice. At noon, lunch will be served and Col. William A. Gunn, CEO of the Boys & Girls Club of Greater Washington, D.C., will speak on his experience helping diverse attorneys succeed in the legal profession. The event will also host a community fair and career building workshop and will end with a reception honoring diverse judges in our community.

The registration deadline is May 1st. If you have questions or want a registration form please e-mail Kim Tran at Ktran@staffordfrey.com, Michael Heath at mheath@cairncross.com or access the materials online at http://www.wsba.org/gagbregistrationjune22006.pdf.
