This is the last issue of the Crier for this academic year. The next issue will be for the first week of Autumn Quarter.

Summer 2006 Course Offerings

The Summer Quarter class schedule is now online at http://www.law.washington.edu/students/registration/SummerQuarter2006.pdf. Summer registration is currently open, and registration codes can be found on the schedule.

PLEASE NOTE- SUMMER COURSE ADDITION

LAW E 507 Access to Justice

Selected Mondays, 4:30-7:00pm

This course satisfies the externship seminar requirement. Open to all students.

Building Alerts

This week there was one reported theft of a backpack in the Law Library.

Graduating 3L’s will continue to have access to the building until sometime between late July early August when central campus deletes graduated students Husky Cards from the CAAMS system.

Graduating 3L’s and non returning students who have building keys are reminded to return them to Mike Hernandez before the end of the quarter.

If you have any further questions or comments please contact Mike Hernandez or Bill Thornton at gatesbc@u.washington.edu.

FROM THE DEAN

Summer Beckons

Spring quarter classes end this week. Only exams and papers stand between students (and faculty) and their summer plans. For third-year law students, this is the last set of law school finals -- and a prelude to the bar exam. For second- and first-year law students, finals week is an opportunity to focus on the material covered in each course and to demonstrate your ability to synthesize and apply this material. Law school exams do more than provide a tool for evaluation. Exam preparation (or paper writing) should help you build your knowledge base and develop critical practice skills in analysis and communication. This end of the quarter activity should sharpen you mentally and enrich you intellectually. The grades you receive should be secondary; remember to keep your achievements and your goals in perspective.

I wish you well as you head into your summer activities, whether bar review awaits or a summer job. Do your best to strive for a work-life balance that allows you to develop as a professional and an individual. Ours is a community committed to academic excellence as well as public service. My wish for you is that your summer efforts will help you realize the distinctive contribution you can make to social change and the legal profession.

KEY EXTERNSHIP INFORMATION!
Public Service Externships are administered by the Career Planning and Public Service Office. The Assistant Director for Public Services is John Chung (jchung@u.washington.edu). He is assisted by Susan Lien, Public Service Program Coordinator (liens@u.washington.edu). Questions concerning academic credit or foreign externships may be directed to Professor Mary Hotchkiss, Director of Academic Advising. Professor Hotchkiss can be reached at hotchma@u.washington.edu.

Summer 2006 Externships
The summer registration period is open through June 18th, but to ensure registration in time for financial aid and to allow you to focus on spring quarter exams, we request that you submit your Public Service Externship Application form by June 2d. Please note that students may not register directly online; externship registrations are handled through Susan Lien in Career Services (Room 346). The externship application form is available on the web and in the Career Services Office. The form must include the signatures of the student, the faculty supervisor, the field supervisor, and the Public Service Program Coordinator. When all parties have signed the application, please return the forms to Susan Lien in Career Services. She will finalize your registration.

Externships of 10 or more credits require concurrent enrollment in an externship perspectives seminar. There are two on-site seminars this summer: LAW B567 General Externship Perspectives Seminar (Wednesdays, 4:30-7:20pm) or LAW E507 Access to Justice Seminar (Mondays, 4:30-7:00pm). No add codes are needed. Please note that who are enrolled in externships that are located beyond Tacoma or Everett should contact Academic Services for registration information.

Fall 2006 Externships
MAJOR CHANGES! Under changes to ABA Accreditation Standard 305, effective Fall 2006, externships of 6 or more credits will have a site visit and a concurrent seminar requirement. (The previous line was drawn at 10 or more credits.) If you are planning on doing an externship during the fall, please note that the perspectives seminar is scheduled on Tuesdays, from 6:00 to 7:50pm.

One positive change: The ABA site visit requirement has been revised to permit annual visits rather than one visit for each academic term. The Career Services Office will be developing a database to collect annual site visit information.

For more information on externships, please contact either John Chung or Susan Lien in Career Services.

1L’s & 2L’s Consolidate your loans before July 1st, 2006!!!

Three easy ways to apply:
Online: http://loanconsolidation.ed.gov/index.shtml
Paper: Download hardcopy application from Direct Loans website
Phone: 1-800-557-7392

Attention Graduating 3L’s
If you are graduating this Spring you will want to consolidate your loans before June 9th, 2006. Why? If you consolidate your loans after June 9th the loans will go directly into repayment and you will lose the 6 month grace period. Don’t lose that grace period by consolidating before June 9th.

Aid for Summer
Summer Quarter is the first quarter of the 2006-2007 academic year. The types and amounts of aid available are limited. The first step in applying for summer aid is to submit a 2006-2007 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to the central processor. Then, after the UW has received the FAFSA information (about 2 weeks for FAFSA on the Web, or 4-6 weeks for paper FAFSAs), complete and submit the summer aid application.

Applying for Summer Aid:
If you have submitted your FAFSA as indicated above, you may submit (and make updates as long as our office has not already processed your application) a Summer Aid Application. Please be prepared to supply your UW NetID and password. The Summer Aid Application is available through your MyUW.

Blogs, Blogs Everywhere….but How Do I Find One on Point?
by Jocelyn Kennedy, Law Library Intern

Way back when I started law school (that would be in the early 2000s) legal blogs – also known as “blawgs” – were the wave of the future. Six years later, blawgs (and blogs) are common place. Legal blogs, like non-legal blogs, cover a wide spectrum of content. Some blogs are places for displaying a particular point of view (check out Judge Posner’s blog, http://www.becker-posner-blog.com, to read his views on gasoline price spikes). Others serve as resources on current trends in a particular area of law (such as UW Law School’s Trial Ad Notes, http://trialadnotes.blogspot.com, focusing on news items and resources on trial advocacy primarily for Washington State). Blogs can be useful to law students, professors, attorneys, and judges for conducting research, discovering world views, and finding general information.

But how do you find a legal blog that is most helpful for you? I suppose you could Google “legal blog”. This will give you about 217,000,000 hits. You could scroll and click through the list and hope to find something useful. In the library world, if you find something on point with that approach, we call that serendipity – but if you don’t find anything, it is just plain frustrating.

Ian Best, a 3L at Ohio State University, created 3L Epiphany as an independent study project. That’s right, he received credit for blogging. To meet the requirements of the independent study, Mr. Best developed a classification system and an index for legal blogs.

At 3L Epiphany, you will find a subject index to legal blogs of all forms and functions. Categories include blogs by legal subject (many are run by lawyers or law firms with a legal practice in that specialty); blogs by jurisdiction; blogs by topics…..the list goes on. Be warned, however, that the index is not comprehensive – with over 200 million Google hits on legal blogs, how could it be?

Blogs come and go (and Ian – like many of you - is graduating any day now). I can’t guarantee that 3L Epiphany will stay active in the future. However, I do believe that, should 3L Epiphany fade away, the index Mr. Best has created will live on. Check out 3L Epiphany at http://3LEpiphany.typepad.com.

3L Epiphany is also a great place for students to explore the world of legal blogging in general. Who knows, you may even decide to start your own blog.

Have a Great Summer!
EVIDENCE TA WANTED

Professor Robert Aronson would like to hire a Teaching Assistant for Evidence next fall and winter quarters (2006-07). Among other responsibilities, the TA would help draft and grade Evidence problems. Ideally, the TA would be available to work on drafting problems starting sometime this summer or early fall before classes begin.

Interested students should submit a resume and cover letter as soon as possible, since Professor Aronson will begin considering applications as soon as they are received. Applications may be submitted in-person to Professor Aronson (Room 308) or Francis Timlin (Room 385), or via e-mail to raron@u.washington.edu.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT NEEDED

Professor Nicolas seeks one or more research assistants during the month of June to cite check and edit an evidence publication, with additional opportunities (if the student so desires) to work as a research assistant during the summer or into next year. Interested applicants should submit a cover letter along with a resume and transcript to Professor Nicolas either via e-mail (at pnicolas@u.washington.edu) or in his 3rd floor mailbox. In the cover letter, please indicate your availability (in terms of average hours per week in June), your work study status, and any pertinent information about your legal research experience. Pay is at the standard law school rate of $15 per hour.

3L Congratulatory BBQ

June 9, 2006 (Friday), 1:00 - 3:00 PM
William H. Gates Hall Terrace

The UW Law School Alumni Association is pleased to invite all 3L students and their families, faculty, and alumni to a complimentary congratulatory barbecue honoring our 2006 3L graduates.

Advanced registration is required.

THANK YOU, STUDENT AMBASSADORS!

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to our Student Ambassadors. The Student Ambassador Program started two years ago and is having a profound impact on how admitted students view our school. The responses from admits who have met with our student ambassadors have been, without exception, extremely positive. Even the students who did not accept our offer but who met with our students have raved about their experiences. The ambassadors have proven to be our best recruitment tool!

We thank you for your time, commitment and enthusiasm for meeting with our potential law school students. To the 3L ambassadors: congratulations on completing your degree. We look forward to keeping in touch with you through our alumni activities. To the 1Ls and 2Ls, we look forward to your continued good work with us as we continue to attract outstanding students to our school. My best to all for a great summer!

COLLOQUIUM ON PARTIAL-BIRTH ABORTION

On Wednesday, May 31 at 3:30 in Room 115, the Law School will hold a colloquium on the issue of so-called “partial-birth abortions.” The colloquium will explore the medical-legal questions raised by recent efforts to ban certain late-term abortion procedures. Among other developments, the U.S. Supreme Court soon will be considering the constitutionality of the federal Partial-Birth Abortion Act.

The participants include:

Stewart Jay
Professor of Law, William L. Dwyer Chair in Law

Leslie Miller, M.D.
Associate Professor, Obstetrics and Gynecology, UW

Thomas Easterling, M.D.
Professor, Obstetrics & Gynecology
Acting Division Director, Maternal-Fetal Medicine, UW

Both of these physicians perform late-term abortions (Miller is at Harborview and Easterling is at the UW Medical Center). They will describe various abortion procedures, with an emphasis on the types of procedures banned by the federal law and an earlier Nebraska statute. Prof. Jay will provide the constitutional background.

There will be a reception after the event.
Summer Coaching Hours
Monday-Thursday from 10:00AM-3:00PM
Friday & After Hours by appointment only

3L Reminder
Please fill out your NALP form on Symplicity if you have accepted an employment offer.

Cairncross & Hempelmann, P.S.
Diversity Fellowship Program for Second Year Law Students
Cairncross & Hempelmann is committed to a culture of diversity that reflects the many communities in which we belong and practice. We strive to enable and encourage everyone in our firm to draw upon their unique experiences and backgrounds to help us thrive and deliver excellence to our clients. In an effort to further support and increase the diversity represented in our firm, as well as the legal community as a whole, we are offering a $7,500 fellowship in conjunction with a summer associate position to one second year law student. This fellowship will be paid directly to the student’s law school at the beginning of their third year to help defray tuition costs.

Selection Criteria
Students are encouraged to apply who will be in their second year of law school during the 2006-07 school year, are in good standing at any ABA accredited law school and will contribute to the diversity of our firm. We are looking for law students who can dedicate themselves to a 10-12 week summer associate position with the firm and are ultimately committed to practicing law in Seattle for the long term. High academic achievement is important, and membership on law review or Moot Court Honor Board is definitely a plus. We are also interested in participation and dedication to community- and diversity-related activities.

Application Checklist
To apply for the Summer 2007 Diversity Fellowship, please submit the following materials no later than August 31, 2006:

- Application
- Personal statement (1-2 pages) describing achievements and eligibility for program
- Resume
- Current law school transcript
- Legal writing sample
- List of three or more references (professional and/or academic)

Send Application Materials To:

Reminders!

Clerks
3Ls Interested in Judicial Clerkships
The State of NJ still has judges, including some state supreme court justices, seeking to hire clerks for the fall of 2006. NJ bar membership is not required. The Career Services Center has the list of judges seeking 3L applicants and info on how to apply, so either stop in or email abearse@u.washington.edu.

- There is a new procedure for accessing the state and federal mail merge databases. They are now centrally stored in the Symplicity system.

  Instructions on how to download the databases can be found on the clerkship website here: https://www.law.washington.edu/Career/Clerk/App/notice.asp. Please contact abearse@u.washington.edu with any questions.

- State databases are due to Jeri Miles as soon as you have completed them. Remember that letters take a few weeks to process and print. Be sure Ms. Miles and your professors know if you need letters to meet a strict state deadline.

- Federal databases are due to Jeri Miles on or before 7/10. When accessing the federal judge database on Symplicity, be aware that you need to wait until the OSCAR/non-OSCAR designations appear before making final judge selections (details in mail merge instructions at link above). This designation will be in the system on or before 6/1.

- Students should be able to access OSCAR, the electronic federal application system on 6/1. A training session is scheduled for lunch on 5/24.

See the clerkship section of the Career Services website for more information and dates!

Externship Information
If you are undertaking an externship for SUMMER QUARTER 2006, please submit your externship materials as soon as possible. The summer registration period is still open, but to ensure registration in time for financial aid or other deadlines, we would like to get you registered within the next two weeks.

Your externship materials include:
1. The Externship Application Form
2. The Confirmation Letter from the externship employer (on letterhead, containing the number of hours to be worked, the kind of work to be performed, and the training/supervision the student will receive)
3. The Notice of Intent for the seminar (if you are taking 10+ credits of externship this summer).

All forms, as well as the guidelines, are available at http://www.law.washington.edu/career/ps/exGuidelines.html. Please review the guidelines, and if you have questions, please contact Susan Lien at pservice@u.washington.edu, or John Chung at jchung@u.washington.edu.

NOW SELECTING BASIC LEGAL SKILLS TEACHING FELLOWS
Help others while you polish your own skills!

Description:
Teaching Fellows work with small groups of approximately 30 first-year law students under the supervision of the Basic Legal Skills Faculty. TFs lead workshops and hold office hours to help with skills such as case briefing and synthesis, statutory interpretation, legal research, writing style and organization, and citation form. TFs also provide feedback on short, ungraded writing and research assignments. TFs must be able to attend all BLS classes and maintain at least two office hours per week except during the last three weeks of each quarter. (BLS classes meet three hours in fall, one in winter, and two in spring.) TFs can expect to work about ten hours per week for about 8 weeks during fall, six hours per week for about 8 weeks in winter, and eight hours per week for about 7 weeks in spring. The position is paid at the rate of $15.00/hour.

Qualifications:
UW students, in the second or third year of the J.D. program, and candidates for LL.M degrees are welcome to apply.

Successful applicants will have excellent academic records and demonstrated competence in legal analysis, research and writing. Good organizational and time-management skills are important. Successful applicants will have good interpersonal skills, including the ability to listen and to converse effectively, and an appreciation for and sensitivity to diverse backgrounds and learning styles. Applicants should be empathic, intellectually engaged, and scrupulously ethical. Applicants must be team-players, able to take direction from BLS faculty and to share ideas and lessons with other TFs. Above all, the successful TF must be really interested in teaching and mentoring first-year students.

Plus factors include: prior teaching experience; ESL training; Advanced Legal Research (completed or contemporaneous); significant legal writing beyond BLS assignments; significant relevant legal practice experience, such as a judicial externship or other job with substantial research and writing; editing experience; familiarity with interactive web-based instructional materials; and eligibility for work study.

TFs must be available to meet once or twice in the evening or on a weekend during the late summer and must be able to begin regular meetings for training by September 18, 2006. TFs must also be willing to adjust their course schedules to attend regularly scheduled BLS classes and planning meetings throughout the year.

Application Process:
Deadline: June 3, 2006 by hand, email, or mail
Address:
Prof. Kathy McGinnis, room 317
University of Washington School of Law
Box 353020, Seattle WA 98195-3020
mcginnis@u.washington.edu

Contents:
A cover letter describing your reasons for applying, whether you are qualified for work study funding, and a description of any significant extracurricular commitments you will be involved in next year
A description of a 50-minute workshop designed to help 1L students synthesize a legal rule from multiple cases. Feel free to use one of the BLS assignments as the starting point, if you like.
Your resume, listing references who can comment on your legal analysis, research & writing, and any other particular qualifications
Your contact information for the summer, including an email address and phone numbers you check often.

We will begin evaluating applications upon receipt, but will defer final decisions until after journals and MCHB have made membership decisions. If you are selected for membership on a journal or MCHB, please let us know whether you remain interested in the TF position in light of your new commitments.
The University of Washington is an equal opportunity employer.

Work Study Students:
Final deadline for Work Study timesheets is Monday, June 12th. Signed and approved timesheets need to be delivered to Jennifer Munro in Room 231 by noon on June 12th. No late timesheets will be accepted. The Work Study office will not process payroll for timesheets submitted after June 12th. No Work Study hours can be worked between June 10th and June 30th. E-mail Jennifer Munro with questions: jdmunro@u.washington.edu.
